BRIDGES TESTIFIES HE HELD UP STRIKE TO AID ROOSEVELT

Says He Delayed West Coast Shipping Tie-Up So as Not to Affect 1936 Election.

HEARING DUE TO END WEEK FROM FRIDAY

Labor Leader Fighting Deportation Denies He Attended Meetings of Communist Party.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28.—The West Coast maritime strike of 1936 was postponed until late in the fall of that year in order not to harm the campaign for re-election of President Roosevelt, Harry Bridges testified today at his deportation trial.

On the stand for the second time, Bridges, alien born labor leader whom the Government seeks to deport as a Communist, described union efforts to prevent West Coast shipowners from making political capital of the strike.

This testimony developed when Bridges detailed differences over union policy he had with Aaron Sapro, attorney and Government witness at the hearing. Earl Browder, Communist Party head, told him Bridges was a party member, Sapro had testified.

Sapro wanted the walkout to occur on the date of the expiration of contracts, Sept. 30, 1936, and allege a lockout on the part of the employers, according to Bridges.

Bridges testified he had been in Washington prior to this and had conferred with Daniel J. Tobin, international president of the Teamsters' Union and chairman of the Labor Committee of the Democratic party, and Joseph P. Ryan, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, then friendly with Bridges.

Both Tobin and Ryan indicated it would be disastrous politically to have a strike Sept. 30, and subsequently maritime unions "delayed" the strike until Oct. 28 when its political effect was negligible, Bridges declared.

Bridges denied almost in its entirety testimony given at the hearing by Sapro. He criticized harshly many of the tactics Sapro had suggested the unions use.

A judge was an Elk or a member of the American Legion, Sapro because he was affiliated with these groups, believed he could use them, Bridges testified.

"Sapro had the idea that because of high contacts and influence here and there you could do things," Bridges said. "We never found that out."

Denies Mentioning Browder.
Bridges denied having ever told Sapro of private conversations he had with Browder. Bridges previously had said he met Browder only once, and briefly, at a mass meeting in 1936 in San Francisco.

The hearing was in its eighth week, with Dean James M. Landis, chief examiner, setting a week from Friday as his goal for the hearing's conclusion.

Mining no words over his opinion of Sapro, Bridges declared, "I wouldn't tell Sapro anything I think he could use to blackmail anybody with or he'd do it."

Bridges denied attending any alleged Communist meetings testified to by Government witnesses. Some meetings he described as union caucuses.

MAN WHO SHOT SELF IN 1926 WHEN HUNTING DOES IT AGAIN Bullet Passes Within Inch of Wound Made by First One, Which Was Never Removed.
Frank Richardson, operator of a filling station at St. Clair, Mo., is in St. Francis Hospital at Washington, Mo., with two small-caliber bullets in his back just beneath the skin, as the result of a strange coincidence in hunting accidents.

One bullet has been in his back since 1926 when he accidentally shot himself through the chest when hunting squirrels with a .22 caliber rifle. Last Thursday he went squirrel hunting, taking the same rifle. It was discharged accidentally. The bullet went through his chest, about an inch away from the wound. His physician, Dr. S. M. Mays of Washington, says he will recover.

CODE MESSAGES SENT BY RADIO FROM BERLIN TO ALL GERMAN SHIPS

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP).—The Herald Tribune says its short wave station intercepted the following message last night from the Berlin radio station:
"Weitergabenachricht NR. 949, 41, 1249.
"An alle Deutschen Schiffe—Tsinv ricea anwaq wuag
ltimj vocelj lofnq srkqv anxkj ntiyy vevcl ansvt vfrax lgal sgcll zbvvv, wunzp.

"Schluss der Weitergabenachricht."

One thing noted about the message was that all of the combinations were of five letters.

Afterward a code message in figures was sent.
Then a message of three words, addressed to a number of German ships was broadcast. The message, translated, read: "Upon receipt of this transmission, act upon your special secret instructions."

NORMANDIE LANDS IN U. S.; BLACKOUT DRILL HELD AT SEA

Radio News So Meager That Passengers Thought War Had Started.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP).—The French liner Normandie arrived today after a fast voyage that left many of the 1417 passengers jittery with fears that war had already started in Europe.

Partial blackouts were ordered after the second night out; no radio messages were permitted to be sent from the ship, and the incoming radio news was incomplete and non-committal. Many passengers thought the ship went unusually far north on its course and some thought it pursued a zig-zag course.

Capt. E. Payen de la Garanderie was inclined to minimize the passengers' concern. It was necessary, he said, "to take all precautions," but there was no reason for the rumors of war that spread through the ship.

"We reduced our lights but that's all," he said. "It was exercise or practice in blackouts. We did not send radios from the ship because we did not want to trouble the air with a lot of personal messages."

We wanted to keep the air clear for important messages or orders from France.

"We followed our usual course. We passed the North German Lloyd liner Bremen on Thursday and saluted her as usual. We ran in sight of each other a mile or so apart for about 12 hours."

FOREIGN FINANCIAL MARKETS PUT UNDER WARTIME CONTROL

Further Drop in British Pound—Wall Street Stocks Recover in Part After Drop.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP).—Wartime control was extended in the European financial markets today, while traders in Wall Street spent another uneasy day, trying to adjust prices to prospects of war or peace.

Outstanding in the day's developments were: Cessation of trading in American securities in London following British restrictions on sale of foreign investments; a decline of $1 to $4 a share in leading stocks in Wall Street and later recovery led by steel and motor shares, leaving final prices mixed; a further wide drop in the British pound sterling and wide swings in other foreign currencies; mixed commodity movements, with wheat up 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents a bushel at the finish, while cotton broke $1 to $1.20 a bale; a fall in United States and foreign Government bonds, mostly eliminating the gains of late last week.

The pound sterling was quoted here around $4.29, off about 20 cents from last week's final quotation. It touched $4.12 in London before exchange dealings began here.

BRITISH SHIPS ORDERED OUT OF MEDITERRANEAN, BALTIC

Admiralty Exercises Emergency Control Over Commercial Vessels.

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP).—The Admiralty, now exercising emergency control over all British shipping, said today British merchant vessels had been advised to stay out of the Mediterranean and Baltic Seas.

Shipping will stop at both ends of the Mediterranean. British ships already in that sea will continue their voyages, but have been directed to leave Italian ports.

The Admiralty tonight announced regulations forbidding use of any wireless transmitting apparatus aboard any British vessel in the Irish waters of Great Britain and Ireland. All persons aboard British merchant vessels, whether sea-going or coastal, were directed to conform to the Admiralty's orders. A further regulation prohibited exposure of any light between sunset and sunrise in any British, Dominion or foreign vessel, except a ship of war or a hospital ship, within the territorial waters of the United Kingdom.

EX-ARMY LEADER APPOINTED AS NEW PREMIER OF JAPAN

Gen. Nobuyuki Abe Succeeds Hiranuma, Whose Cabinet Resigned Over Nazi-Soviet Pact.

HE IS REGARDED AS A MODERATE

Described as Favoring Friendship With U. S. and Britain; Once Advocated Treaty With Russia.

TOKYO, Aug. 28 (AP).—A retired army leader, Gen. Nobuyuki Abe, was designated today by Emperor Hirohito to form a new Cabinet replacing that of Premier Baron Kichiro Hiranuma, which resigned as a result of the German-Soviet non-aggression pact.

After receiving the imperial mandate, Gen. Abe, considered a moderate politically, left the palace at 10 p. m. (8 a. m. St. Louis time), to begin the task of building a new Government.

The summons to Gen. Abe, former acting War Minister, came shortly after Hiranuma's resignation was submitted as Japan kept its attention on Soviet Russia for any major move against Manchoukuo or North China.

New Cabinet Expected Quickly.
Numerous consultations among key Cabinet Ministers led to the belief the new Cabinet would be formulated swiftly to lead the nation through what Japanese consider a critical period.

The emergence of Gen. Abe after three years' retirement was sudden, since he was not mentioned in initial Cabinet speculation during the current crisis. Newspapers had turned their attention to him, however, in the last two days, reviewing the career of the 64-year-old General who resigned from the Supreme War Council after the attempted military coup of Feb. 26, 1936.

Official reports, meanwhile, said Italian Ambassador Giacinto Auriti had called on Foreign Minister Hiroshi Arima with assurances that the German-Soviet pact would not alter Italian-Japanese friendship. Japanese sources said, however, the anti-Comintern agreement, in which Japan, Germany, and Italy have been linked, was not mentioned.

Favors Friendship With U. S.
Gen. Abe (pronounced Ah-Beh, without accent) was described authoritatively as favoring Japanese friendship with the United States and Great Britain. He is a follower of Gen. Kazushige Ugaki, a pronounced liberal and advocate of friendship with the two Powers, who currently is in disfavor with the army extremists.

Informed Japanese said Abe once belonged to a group which favored a Japanese-Soviet Russian non-aggression pact.

The appointment of an army man as Premier was not taken to mean necessarily that the Government would take a military line.

Hiranuma told the Japanese press Japan's diplomatic attitude toward Europe was not a diplomatic gamble in which Poland has everything to lose and little to gain.

Polish spokesmen emphasized, however, Poland wants a peaceful solution of the controversy, but will insist on full recognition of its sovereignty.

Poland Has Faith in Britain.
Hitler's demand in his letter to French Premier Daladier for the return of the Polish Corridor, as well as the Free City of Danzig, drew no immediate comment from the Foreign Office. Hitler's refusal to negotiate caused no surprise in Polish circles.

Poland remained confident that the decision of the British Government, which Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson will convey to Adolf Hitler, would not in any way be harmful to Polish interests.

"Britain will not agree to a new arrangement," said a Foreign Office spokesman.

ENVOY HENDERSON ARRIVES IN BERLIN WITH STRONG BRITISH NOTE TO HITLER

GERMANS SEND UP OBSERVATION BALLOONS ALONG POLISH FRONTIER

MOST TRAIN, PLANE TRAFFIC IS STOPPED

Warsaw Thinks Only Way Out of European War Is Some Form of Mediation as Suggested by Roosevelt.

WARSAW, Aug. 28 (AP).—German observation balloons were reported aloft over the German-Polish border today as Warsaw lived from minute to minute on the thin and fragile line between peace and war.

"The dice have not yet been thrown," said one morning Warsaw newspaper, "but they may have been thrown by the time these words are in print."

Frontier districts were reported from various districts. A Polish cavalryman was said to have been killed in one clash. A German cavalryman was reported to have been killed in a raid by a German patrol on Polish territory near Dzialadowo, on the East Prussian border.

Polish reports said that Polish frontier guards and buildings were being almost continuously attacked, not only with rifles but with machineguns and hand grenades.

Most Communications Stopped.
Most train, airplane and highway communications between Poland and Germany stopped, but, up until last night at least, there was train service through Pomorze (the Polish Corridor) to East Prussia from Germany.

The opinion grew in authoritative Polish circles that the German refusal to negotiate directly with Poland had narrowed down to some form of mediation as suggested by President Roosevelt.

Direct negotiation was beyond consideration, according to the German viewpoint. Polish foreign policy steadily has opposed arbitration, regarding it merely as a diplomatic gamble in which Poland has everything to lose and little to gain.

Polish spokesmen emphasized, however, Poland wants a peaceful solution of the controversy, but will insist on full recognition of its sovereignty.

Poland Has Faith in Britain.
Hitler's demand in his letter to French Premier Daladier for the return of the Polish Corridor, as well as the Free City of Danzig, drew no immediate comment from the Foreign Office. Hitler's refusal to negotiate caused no surprise in Polish circles.

LONDON SAID TO REAFFIRM ITS INTENTION TO BACK POLES

Believed to Demand Removal of All Threats of Force, Separate Negotiations on Danzig and General Issues.

PARLIAMENT CALLED TO MEET TOMORROW

King Sees War Minister as Government Tightens Defense Preparations—Reply to Counter-Proposals Expected.

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP).—Great Britain dispatched a momentous note to Germany today replying to Adolf Hitler's unequivocal demands for Danzig and the Polish Corridor, which have spurred heavily-armed Europe to further military preparations.

The note, completed after three Cabinet sessions since Saturday, was believed to contain strong reaffirmation of Britain's support of Poland.

British Ambassador Sir Neville Henderson left to deliver it to Hitler.

Parliament Called.

Despite earlier indication that the British Government might publish for tomorrow morning newspapers the exchange of communications with Germany, it subsequently appeared unlikely that Henderson would be able to reach Berlin and obtain an interview with Hitler in time for such a step. Therefore any public exposition of the precise British position seemed to await Chamberlain's statement to Parliament, called for a special session tomorrow afternoon.

The details of the note were not disclosed but it was reported to have said the first requirement for any negotiation of the Polish question was the removal of threats of force.

Sources close to the Government indicated the message was of such a nature a reply was expected from the German Fuehrer. It was believed, would forestall any decisive action until tomorrow at least.

Henderson left by plane a few minutes before 5 p. m. (10 a. m. St. Louis time) and was expected to reach Berlin early in the evening.

New Emergency Steps.

Just before he left London the Government took a series of emergency steps, indicating the possibility of war was still considered "imminent," as Chamberlain said last week.

The Government made effective sweeping defense regulations under which all cities must be in French languages even to cruiser Trenton. Preliminary evacuating order from frontier zones issued French citizens.

"Partial blackouts coastal cities ordered tonight. Bars, cafes closed after 9 p. m. Nice and Cannes Juan les Pins calm, although tourists leaving precipitately. Women replacing men civil life as thousands reservists flock toward frontier zone. Requisitioning horses, mules, automobiles, gasoline, continuing, although plenty food."

POLISH TERROR BANDS INVADE GERMANY, BERLIN PAPER SAYS

BERLIN, Aug. 28 (AP).—The Berlin Nachrichten published today that Polish "terror bands" invaded German territory last night and the night before, laying waste numerous farm houses in Pomerania and Silesia.

FUEHRER ARRANGES TO RECEIVE HIM AT ONCE

INCREASES DEMANDS ON POLISH PEOPLE

In Letter to Daladier He Refuses to Deal With Warsaw, Speaks of Other Adjustments in Addition to Danzig and Corridor.

BERLIN, Aug. 28 (AP).—Great Britain's Ambassador to Germany, Sir Neville Henderson, landed at Tempelhof Airport here at 8:32 p. m. (1:32 St. Louis time) tonight bringing the British reply to Germany's demands upon Poland.

The Fuehrer again today remained closeted in his palace. He has not left the Chancellery, as far as could be learned, since he entered it on arriving from Berchtesgaden last Thursday night.

Henderson said he might fly back to London tomorrow. He asked airport attendants to provide accommodations for the pilots of his twin-motored plane and his radio operator and asked that the machine be in readiness for a possible take-off.

German political circles thought the Ambassador and the Fuehrer would confer almost immediately.

Arrangements for Meeting.

Official photographers, always on hand to record momentous events in German history, were instructed to be at the Chancellery at 10 p. m. Arrangements for the British Ambassador's visit were made while Hitler was represented in well-informed circles as willing to have some friend like Premier Mussolini of Italy mediate Germany's dispute with Poland.

Henderson was flying from London after a series of three British cabinet meetings at which the reply to Hitler's proposals was drafted.

In rejecting direct negotiations with Warsaw, the German Fuehrer disclosed that his demands on Poland not only included return of the Free City of Danzig and Pomorze (Polish Corridor), but also vaguely implied "other adjustments" at the expense of Poland.

In connection with suggestions that Premier Mussolini would be acceptable as a mediator, reliable sources said that Bernardo Attolico, Italian Ambassador to Germany, is in frequent touch with Hitler and Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop.

Hitler indicated in a reply to Premier Daladier of France, made public early today, that he considered direct talks with Poland would be futile.

"I see no possibility for us on our part to exert influence in the direction of reasonableness upon Poland," the Fuehrer declared.

He did not comment directly on Daladier's suggestion that the French Premier was "ready to make every effort which an upright man can undertake" toward a peaceful solution.

Had Hitler intended to ask for mediation by Daladier he would, it was argued in political circles here, have asked Daladier in his reply.

Hitler's letter to Daladier was made public at a press conference here as indicating Hitler was annoyed by Daladier, for whom he has expressed personal admiration.

In Paris, Daladier had commented.

FRENCH SAY NEGOTIATIONS MAY REQUIRE TWO WEEKS

New British Note Termed 'Technical and Juridical'—Protracted Talks Expected Unless Hitler Springs Coup.

BLACKOUTS ORDERED ALONG FRENCH COASTS

U. S. Reporter Sends News From American Cruiser Trenton.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP).—A message from an Associated Press reporter from Southern France, sent via the U. S. S. Cruiser Trenton said today that a blackout in part of French coastal cities had been ordered for tonight.

The message was signed by Roy P. Port of the Associated Press bureau in Paris. It added that women were replacing men in civil positions as thousands of reservists flocked toward the frontiers.

The navy said the Trenton, which has been in Southern France, was en route to Monaco.

The dispatch, relayed to the Washington bureau of the Associated Press by naval communications, said:

"Southeastern France cut completely regular communications from Paris other departments by official censorship. Telephone forbidden outside Alpes-Maritimes Department. Telegrams must be submitted officials for approval."

"Long-distance communications between all cities must be in French languages even to cruiser Trenton. Preliminary evacuating order from frontier zones issued French citizens."

"Partial blackouts coastal cities ordered tonight. Bars, cafes closed after 9 p. m. Nice and Cannes Juan les Pins calm, although tourists leaving precipitately. Women replacing men civil life as thousands reservists flock toward frontier zone. Requisitioning horses, mules, automobiles, gasoline, continuing, although plenty food."

Common Ground, Difficult.

Spokesmen of the French Government said they considered it "virtually impossible" to find a ground for common understanding between France and Germany since the exchange of communications between Daladier and Hitler "showed they do not speak the same language."

Daladier, they said, suggested conversations directly with Poland to seek means of a settlement without war, while Hitler, as the French view his note, simply replied that he would not talk with Poland and was determined to take what he wanted.

A French spokesman flatly challenged Hitler's assertion that there were 2,000,000 Germans in Poland, saying that no official figure.

PARIS, Aug. 28 (AP).—

Protracted negotiations over the issue of peace or war were foreseen by French official quarters today as likely unless Adolf Hitler replies with force to Britain's latest note.

The British note which Sir Neville Henderson carried by plane to Berlin was communicated to the French Government.

A person who saw the text said it was "technical and juridical," calling for a full reply by Germany.

Unless Germany makes a sudden coup attempting to enforce its claims on Poland, this person said, "the conversations will take a long time, perhaps two weeks."

The British note was said to reply point by point to Hitler's proposals.

Premier Prepares New Letter.
At the same time Premier Daladier drew up a second letter to Hitler in an effort to dissuade the German Fuehrer from going to war and keep the way open for peaceful negotiations.

The French Government simultaneously extended its preparedness for war with publication of a decree applying censorship to news and photographs. Effective today, the decree said all printed publications, radio broadcasts and news-reels must be submitted to the newly-formed General Information Service for approval. Export of all photographs and newsreels was forbidden except for those bearing a visa from the Information Service.

France was reaching the last stages in full preparedness with progressive mobilization of troops, requisition of transportation and partial evacuation of Paris.

Hitler indicated in a reply to Premier Daladier of France, made public early today, that he considered direct talks with Poland would be futile.

"I see no possibility for us on our part to exert influence in the direction of reasonableness upon Poland," the Fuehrer declared.

He did not comment directly on Daladier's suggestion that the French Premier was "ready to make every effort which an upright man can undertake" toward a peaceful solution.

MAN AND TWO GIRLS KILLED BY TRAIN ON TRESTLE

GREEN ASKS WORKERS TO MOBILIZE MORAL INFLUENCE AGAINST WAR

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP).—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, appealed today to workers throughout the world to "mobilize their moral influence and support in opposition to the threatened war in Europe."

In a letter of W. Scheveler of Paris, general secretary of the International Federation of Trade Unions, Green said it seemed "inconceivable that the German workers would give support to the war preparation now being made by their Nazi leaders."

"Working people in the United States," he added, "cannot help but believe that the masses of the workers of the German nation think as the workers do in other nations throughout the world. We abhor war and protest against it. We insist and demand that differences between nations be settled in a peaceful way through conferences and consultation."

In the interest of peace and in order to prevent the slaughtering of working men and women in a cruel, ruthless war, I support the appeal made by the representatives of the British workers to the German workers to join with them in protesting against war and in opposition to the threat of war."

The dead are Mrs. Mildred Napp, 39, of 2319 Clawson street, Alton; daughter, Norma Lee, 9, and daughter, NORMA LEE, 9, daughter of Mrs. Charles J. Bramley, 9, of Pawhattan avenue, Alton.

The Napp family and the Bramley girl had been out for a Sunday afternoon walk. They had gone over the trestle once and past the Western Military Academy grounds.

When they were back, when they reached the trestle, they debated, Napp said, whether to walk across whether to go down an embankment to Seminary road.

They decided to go across the trestle because they observed poison ivy among the weeds on the embankment. Napp said the Bramley girl had just recovered from an attack of poison ivy and had been getting over to the side, but the train struck them and knocked them down to the roadway, 20 feet below.

Saw One Train Go By. Napp said they had just seen a southbound passenger train go by a short time before they went on the trestle and thought there would be another train along for some time. He said it "was a mystery" why they didn't hear the train.

The train stopped and backed up because of the accident, but continued on to St. Louis. A passing motorist called an ambulance and the bodies of Mrs. Napp and the girls were taken to an undertaking establishment.

Central Trades Urges A.F.L. to End Jurisdictional Rows. Prompted by dispute of unions at Anheuser-Busch.

A resolution calling on the American Federation of Labor to set up an agency to stop labor jurisdictional disputes was adopted by the Central Trades & Labor Union yesterday.

While not mentioned specifically, the dispute between the carpenters' and machinists' unions over the installation and servicing of machinery at Anheuser-Busch Brewery prompted the resolution. The Central Trades previously declared the brewery blameless in the dispute.

The resolution was introduced by Thomas Curran, of the Letter Carriers' Union.

A further effort to settle the jurisdictional row will be made today when international representatives of the carpenters' and machinists' organizations meet here.

W. King, representing the machinists, and George Ottens, a general representative of the carpenters, are to discuss the situation, it was announced at yesterday's meeting. Carpenters, cabinet makers and millwrights have been on strike at Anheuser-Busch since June.

School Union Agent Quits. T. Latham Resigns Post With Custodians' Local.

T. Latham has resigned as business agent of School Custodians' and Matrons' Union, Local 508, it was stated today. Latham was the A. F. of L. Building Service Employees' Union.

The resignation, it was stated, was to enable Latham to devote more time to other units of the building service employees' organization. A new business agent will be selected by members of Local 508.

E. D. NIMS SETTLES LAND BANK CLAIMS

U. S. Court Approves Payment of $47,500 for Alleged Liability of $93,000.

Settlement for $47,500 of $93,000 in claims of bondholders of the closed St. Louis Joint Stock Land Bank against E. D. Nims as an individual stockholder of the bank and as trustee of other shares acquired by a holding company was authorized today by United States District Judge Charles B. Davis.

Judge Davis ruled last January that Missouri stockholders of the bank were liable for 100 per cent of their holdings under the so-called double liability provision of the Joint Stock Land Bank Act.

Attorney Frank H. Sullivan, representing Nims, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that although his client individually owned only $6000 worth of stock, on which he admitted liability of only $1000, he was influenced by the fact that his client was no longer a young man and had been seriously ill for some time.

Of the 935 shares in question, he said, all but 60 had been acquired by Nims and the Southwest Investment Co., a holding company headed by Nims. There was no charge, he said, that transfer to the securities company was made to avoid the 100 per cent liability provision.

Arthur V. Lashly, representing a bondholders' committee, told Judge Davis the compromise had been arranged on a basis ranging from 20 to 90 per cent payments on the shares. The negotiators had felt, he said in response to a question by the court, that there were better defenses in some instances than in others.

In response to a question by the court as to whether any of the shareholders involved might later raise the issue of the settlement, Lashly said the compromise was intended to dispose of the matter finally, but that it did not bar Nims from proceeding against others for recovery of payments by him under the settlement.

In his ruling that the Missouri stockholders were liable for 100 per cent of their holdings, Judge Davis held that any purported transfer of shares to a holding company did not affect the liability. His ruling, affirmed by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, made about 200 Missouri stockholders liable for about $650,000 of the bank's loss of $4,000,000.

In 1938 Federal Judge Fred L. Wham of East St. Louis held 73 Illinois stockholders were liable for the $275,000 equaling the par value of the bank's stock.

The bank, which went into receivership in 1932, is being liquidated. Payments totaling 50 per cent have been made to holders of $18,134,500 in bonds.

Man Hit, Suffers Skull Injury; 4 Hurt in Another Accident. Stevens Patrick, 39, 715 Hickory street, suffered a skull injury early yesterday when struck by an automobile in the 1100 block of South Fourth street.

The driver, Frank Amann, 1720 South Fourteenth street, said Patrick stepped from between parked automobiles into the path of his car.

William Ritter, 109 Garibaldi place, St. Louis County, suffered a brain concussion and a fractured left elbow and three passengers in his automobile were injured yesterday when the car turned over near Mine La Motte, Mo., about 80 miles south of St. Louis.

Ritter said he lost control of the car when it ran off the road into loose gravel. All were taken to St. Louis County Hospital.

CLIPPER IN NEW CALEDONIA. Makes 1988-Mile Flight in 13 Hours, 12 Minutes.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 28 (AP).—The California Clipper, on a survey flight from San Francisco to New Zealand, arrived at Noumea, New Caledonia, at 11 p. m. Pacific time yesterday after a 1988-mile flight from Canton Island, Pan American Airways reported.

The plane completed the hop in elapsed time of 13 hours, 12 minutes. The next leg is from New Caledonia to Auckland, New Zealand.

Scripta-Howard Paper Grants Demand for Preferential Hiring. SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 28 (AP).—A contract covering the American Newspaper Guild's newsroom employees on the San Diego Sun, a Scripps-Howard paper, was agreed upon today after 12 hours of continuous negotiations.

The Guild had charged the management with bad faith in collective bargaining, and a picket line was formed but subsequently withdrawn. From eight to 10 Guild members remained away from their jobs Saturday. The contract provided for preferential hiring of Guild members.

W P A ALLOTS FUNDS FOR BABLER PARK WORK

$195,000 for Buildings and Roads—$35,000 for Hancock School District.

Allotments of funds for two St. Louis County WPA projects have been approved at Washington, Congressman C. Arthur Anderson was advised today. The allotments were $195,397 to improve Babler State Park and $35,503 for work in the Hannibal School District.

The funds for Babler State Park, which is under the Missouri State Park Board, will be spent on finishing the administration building, erecting lodges, and on plumbing and lighting facilities and road work. The Hancock School District allotment will be used for the construction of sidewalks, fences, drains, razing of old buildings, removing of trees, landscaping, and other work preparatory to establishing a playground. The Hancock School District is the sponsor on the WPA project.

Continuance of a WPA project, sponsored by the City Planning Commission, for a study of land uses in connection with re-zoning proposals, has been authorized by President Roosevelt, it was announced today.

A new grant of $17,504 was allowed to complete the project, which was started Dec. 1, 1937. The present force of two men will be increased to 14. Maps will be made of 82 residential areas and 17 industrial districts.

NEW CENSUS DISTRICTS SET UP IN COUNTY AND EAST SIDE. Divisions Similar to Permanent Tracts Adopted for St. Louis in 1930.

A new set of census district for St. Louis County and the East Side has been adopted by the Census Bureau, which plans to use them in the 1940 and future enumerations. In the past the districts, known as census tracts, have varied with changing municipal boundaries, resulting in difficulty in comparing given population areas from one census to the next.

The new setup is similar to the permanent census tracts in St. Louis, adopted by the bureau for the 1930 census, which will be used without change in the enumeration next year. Both the St. Louis and the county and East Side census tracts were proposed by a St. Louis group headed by Roy W. Wenzlick, president of the Real Estate Agents' Association.

St. Louis County has been subdivided into 88 census tracts, the East Side, including Belleville, into 26. Enumeration by these districts will not affect tabulations by municipal and township boundaries. Wenzlick pointed out that while these boundaries may change from one census year to another, the census tracts will remain constant, thus permitting accurate comparisons of population changes in a given geographical area.

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 28 (AP).—Thanksgiving in Kansas will be observed on Nov. 30, notwithstanding the announced intention of President Roosevelt and several State Governors to proclaim a date one week earlier this year as a stimulus to business.

In a statement announcing his action on the date today, Gov. Payne Ratner described the President's plan as a "crumb to business men" and added that "in Kansas we do not destroy tradition merely to gain newspaper headlines."

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 28 (AP).—Gov. C. R. Hodges announced today he had decided not to change the date of Thanksgiving in North Carolina.

Reasons for changing the date from Nov. 30 to Nov. 23, as suggested by President Roosevelt, "are not impressive," the Governor said in a statement.

OLD ORCHARD DRUG STORE. POSTAL STATION LOOTED. $1089 in Merchandise, Stamps and Cash Taken From Safe, Blown Open by Burglars.

Merchandise, stamps and cash valued at $1089 were stolen last night from the Orchard Drug Store, 640 East Big Bend road, Webster Groves, by burglars who broke in through a basement door.

The loot included $255 worth of stamps and 75 postal money order blanks, which were part of the supplies used by the store as a postoffice substation. The stamps, money order forms and $67 in cash were taken from a safe, which police said had been opened with a light explosive after the combination had been knocked off.

Merchandise removed from the store included cigarettes valued at $358, liquors valued at $285 and $123 worth of perfumes, compacts and cigarette cases.

Harassed Bookies Plan To Take Sidewalk Bets

Few Expected to Continue in Their Usual Haunts—Police Are Keeping Them "on the Run."

Bookmaking activities in St. Louis, driven to cover by a new police campaign which began last Saturday, were taking to back alleys and secret hideaways today as some of the city's 215 handbook operators attempted to salvage what for years has been a profitable business openly operated.

The police gambling squad raided a large garage opening on an alley at the rear of 2812 North Grand boulevard. There they arrested three clerks and six customers and seized large quantities of betting tabs and racing forms. Furniture in the place was removed in a police truck.

Detectives said the place had opened since Saturday. Although the clerks refused to tell the name of the operator, they formerly were employed by a bookmaker who operated on Grand boulevard a short distance from the garage, police said.

Five Other Raids. There were five other raids today as police continued the campaign of harassment. At 1310 Franklin avenue and 615 North Eighth street a customer was arrested and booked on charges of frequenting a gaming house.

Although his furniture was seized in a raid Saturday, Joseph Pigloski was arrested again today at his place at 3556 Easton avenue and charged with setting up a gaming house. Policemen in today's raid said they found no forms or other betting paraphernalia.

Furniture and equipment were removed from 3807 South Kingshighway, where two clerks were arrested on charges of setting up a gaming house. In a raid on an office on the second floor of a building at 3608 South Grand boulevard, the proprietor and three clerks were arrested. Some unmarked form sheets were seized as evidence.

Few bookmakers, it was thought, would attempt to continue to operate in the establishments—known to both public and police—where betting has been going on in the past. Instead, some were planning to have clerks take bets from well-known customers on the sidewalks, in restaurants and taverns, or over telephones with private numbers.

"Like a Speakeasy." A Post-Dispatch reporter making a tour of downtown bookies this morning found the doors of a shop in the 700 block of St. Charles street closed but was informed by a bootblack in a nearby shoe-shining parlor: "They're taking bets upstairs, if you know the right guy. It's just like a speakeasy."

Chief of Police John H. Glasse, however, said the police would be ready for such tactics and would endeavor to keep the bookies "on the run." Arrests will be made of bookmakers who have their offices under their hats as well as any who attempt to keep going openly, he said.

Out of 29 downtown handbooks visited by a reporter, 19 were closed. In the other 10, clerks were selling cigars and soft drinks, but there were no betting operations in evidence. At an hour when back rooms of these establishments formerly were the scenes of street activities, as the day's track conditions and probable odds came over the service wire, the rooms were darkened and empty.

"While the Heat's On." Clerks in the places where doors still were open said they would not attempt to take bets at any time today. One of them, in the 600 block of North Ninth street, explained: "We have to take it easy while the heat's on."

Notices were sent by the Police Department today to the owners of property in which 17 raids were made Saturday. The owners are being warned that they will be subject to prosecution under a State law, not previously invoked here in recent years, making it a felony for owners knowingly to permit gaming on their premises.

At the offices of the southwestern Bell Telephone Co. it was said three or four orders for discontinuance of telephone service had been received from handbook shops, presumably because the owners had given up hope of continuing in business.

500 AT INTERNATIONAL SHOE TO VOTE ON BARGAINING AGENT. Heel and Rand Department Employees to Decide Between CIO and Independent Unions.

An election on union representation will be held within 15 days by the 500 employees of the heel and rand departments of the International Shoe Co. plants at Broadway and Cherokee street and Mississippi avenue and Hickory street.

The National Labor Relations Board will supervise the secret ballot, to determine whether the Associated Shoe & Leather Workers, Local No. 1, an affiliate of the National Federation of Independent Union, or Local 56A of the CIO United Shoe Workers should be declared collective bargaining agent.

Application for the election was filed with the Labor Board in June by the independent union. The CIO has contracts with International Shoe covering workers in the sole and counter departments.

RECEIVERSHIP SOUGHT FOR LOAN ASSOCIATION

State Files Suit Against Concern at Maplewood on Directors' Request.

A receivership suit against the State Savings & Loan Association, 7184 Manchester avenue, Maplewood, which listed assets of $41,555 as of June 30, was filed today in Circuit Court at Clayton by J. W. McCammon, State Building and Loan Supervisor.

The association's liabilities exceed assets by more than $7600, McCammon's petition alleges. He asks that he be appointed temporary receiver until it is determined whether the association can resume business.

The petition asserts that assets and affairs of the association have been in McCammon's hands since Thursday, when the board of directors, after conferences with the supervisor, voted to turn the books over to him and requested that he file the receivership suit.

The association had been operating on a limited basis since May, when McCammon issued an order barring further withdrawals by the approximately 50 shareholders. The association carries no Federal insurance.

The association's difficulties were attributed by representatives of the supervisor's office to depreciation in real estate values. No irregularities are involved, it was said. Assets as listed in the June 30 statement included real estate, $13,273; real estate loans, $18,505; delinquent membership dues, $3325; stock loans, $3571, and delinquent and accrued interest, $1633. Of the liabilities, $31,000 consisted of fully paid shares, $6247 installment payments on shares, $2055 reserved for contingencies, $1500 borrowed money and $383 undivided profits.

Frank H. Brown is president of the association. J. A. Sterling, vice-president, and L. W. Wise, secretary-treasurer. Other members of the board of directors are D. O. Cornwell, William Doll, L. C. Warren and H. A. Hendricks.

The receivership petition was prepared by Charles M. Hay, attorney for McCammon.

COST OF GOVERNMENT IN U. S. Treasury Estimate Puts It at $114 for Each American.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP).—The Treasury estimated today that Federal, state and local government cost American last year an average of $114.09 each.

A study based on the fiscal year ending in 1938 and published in the Treasury's monthly statistical bulletin, showed that the Federal Government cost $46.48 per person, state government $29.71 and local government $37.90.

MUSSOLINI TO ACT "IF BRITAIN AND FRANCE SHOW GOOD WILL"

HE CAN'T EFFECT MIRACLE ALONE, GAYDA WRITES

'CHANCE OF AVERTING WAR IS LESSENING'

Editorial Again Affirms Italy's Solidarity With Germany in Recognition of "Just Demands."

ROME, Aug. 28 (AP).—Fascists said today Premier Mussolini was ready to lend his good offices to a settlement of European problems, but indicated that Great Britain and France would have to satisfy both Germany and Italy of their good will.

Virginia Gayda, often the unofficial spokesman of the Government, said Mussolini alone could not "accomplish the miracle expected of him."

"He has need," Gayda wrote in the Giornale d'Italia, "of responsible men of good will who listen to his words and understand with honesty the spirit in which he speaks them."

All commentators pessimistic. Gayda, like other Italian commentators, remained pessimistic as to the outcome of the exchange of notes between London and Berlin.

The margin of time in which to avert war, he said, was lessening, adding, "no bright hopes should be drawn from the current 'waiting phase.'"

The British Government's reply to Adolf Hitler "may bring a useful element to the orientation of international positions if not to the solution of pending questions," Gayda observed.

"But it also is certain that if the adversaries do not deliberately want war, they should refrain from mixing with the elementary limits of the problem and its solutions their own questions of prestige and calculations of unconfessable aspirations."

Says Italy's Aid Is Sought. Gayda said foreign governments and peoples were seeking the "direct intervention of the Duce to save peace."

Mussolini is not idle, Gayda repeated. But he added that the appeals thus far have overlooked the Mussolini policy, which is:

"Understanding and respect of the needs and rights of all peoples, co-operation among the great nations responsible for European history, and courageous revision and repair of absurd systems and obvious injustices."

Gayda again affirmed Italy's solidarity with Germany in recognition of Germany's "just demands."

Mussolini Keeps in Contact. Mussolini was in contact with both Hitler and the British Government.

It also became known Pope Pius XII received Francis Osborne, British envoy to the Holy See, at Castel Gandolfo yesterday.

A Vatican source also said a high papal official met Casimir Pappe, Polish Ambassador to the Holy See, yesterday, and that a radio message was dispatched to Mr. Filippo Cortesi, papal nuncio at Warsaw, instructing him to get in touch with the Polish Government at once.

Hitler has kept Mussolini informed of his proposal to the British Government and his intentions in four exchanges of messages between the last three days.

Sir Percy Loraine, the British Ambassador, was believed in foreign circles to have consulted Mussolini on points in the British reply which the Cabinet at London has been drafting over the week end.

Briton Sees Clans. Sir Percy conferred with Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, yesterday, and expected to call again today with a copy of the reply his Government sent to Hitler.

German Ambassador Hans-Georg Viktor von Mackensen delivered a telephonic message from Hitler to Mussolini yesterday. Further exchanges between Hitler and Mussolini were expected today.

Those acquainted with Mussolini's viewpoint thought it likely he was insisting on the recognition of Italian claims on France in any general settlement, while at the same time using his efforts to end the crisis.

In diplomatic quarters there was a feeling that Britain, while rejecting Hitler's still undisclosed scheme, would counter with a sweeping plan to make raw materials available to Germany and Italy, among other things.

Rome had a taste of the war preparations in other capitals last night in a partial blackout.

Otherwise, fresh evidence of military preparedness was lacking, other than the announcement that Libya's Governor, Air Marshal Italo Balbo, had inspected mobilized troops of that North African territory.

Fighting on the frontier between Libya and French-controlled Tunisia is considered certain in case of war.

Correspondence of Hitler and Daladier

HITLER'S LETTER.

BERLIN, Aug. 28 (AP).—

The letter which Adolf Hitler wrote to French Premier Edouard Daladier is dated Berlin, Aug. 27, and reads as follows in English translation:

My Dear Minister President: I understand the misgiving which you give expression.

I, too, have never overlooked the grave responsibilities which are imposed upon those who are in charge of the fate of nations.

As an old front fighter, I, like yourself, know the horrors of war. Guided by this attitude and experience I have tried honestly to remove all matters that might cause conflict between our two peoples.

I have quite frankly given one assurance to the French people, namely, that the return of the Saar would constitute the precondition for this.

After its return, I immediately and solemnly pronounced my renunciation of any further claims that might concern France. The German people approved of this, my attitude.

As you could judge for yourself, as far as the German people, the German people, in the knowledge of its own behavior, held and holds no ill feelings, much less hatred, for its one-time brave opponent.

On the contrary. The pacification of our Western frontier led to an increasing sympathy. Certainly, as far as the German people are concerned, a sympathy which on many occasions showed itself in a really demonstrative way.

The construction of the Western fortifications, which swallowed and still swallows many millions (of marks) at the same time constituted for Germany a document of acceptance and fixation of the final frontiers of the Reich.

In doing so, the German people have renounced two provinces which once belonged to the German Reich, later were conquered again at the cost of much blood, and finally were defended with even more blood.

I believed that by this renunciation and by the attitude every conceivable source of conflict between our two peoples had been done away with, which might lead to a repetition of the tragedy of 1914-1918.

This voluntary limitation of the German claims to life in the West can, however, not be interpreted as an acceptance of all other phases of the Versailles dictate.

I have really tried, year after year, to achieve the revision of at least the most impossible and unbearable provisions of this dictate by way of negotiation. This was impossible.

That the revision had to come was known and clear to a greater number of sensible men among all nations. Whatever one may say against my method, whatever one believes one should criticize about it, it must not be overlooked or denied that it became possible for me without new bloodshed, not only to find solutions satisfactory in many cases to Germany, but that by the method of my procedure I relieved the statesmen of other nations of the obligation of having to defend their revision before their own peoples.

For, your excellency will have to admit one thing to me: the revision of any kind gave more than 700,000 Germans their lives.

France now has included its entire empire in the defense measures being taken on the continent.

Before leaving France today for French Indo-China, young Emperor Bao Dai of Annam telegraphed the Minister of Colonies Georges Mandel his assurances of Annamite loyalty, declaring that "whatever happens, my subjects and I stand at France's side."

Numerous defense measures were decreed by the Paris police. All lighted signs on the capital's roads were barred. Householders were warned that no light must shine out from windows or doors under threat that electricity would be cut off unless they comply.

Pharmacists and chemists were asked to register with defense authorities.

Despite these precautions, Paris was calm. Only small crowds stood outside newspaper offices.

In the words of one cafe owner, "Everybody has his job and is doing it."

Evacuation in Military Zones. Members of the Chamber of Deputies returning from Eastern France said that citizens of towns and cities in military zones were being evacuated in excellent order.

Reports from the provinces said life there was continuing normally except for some requisitions, and vision had to come. The Versailles dictate was unbearable. No Frenchman with honor, and yourself included, Herr Daladier, would have acted differently from myself in a similar position.

In this sense I have then tried to remove from the world the most irrational provisions of the Versailles dictate.

I have made an offer to the Polish Government which shocked the German people. Nobody but myself could even dare to go before the public with such an offer. It could therefore be made only once.

I am deeply convinced that if especially England at that time had, instead of starting a wild campaign against Germany in the press and instead of launching rumors of a German mobilization, had somehow talked the Poles into being reasonable, Europe today and for 25 years could enjoy a condition of deepest peace.

As things were, however, Polish public opinion was excited by a lie about German aggression. Clear decisions which the situation called for were made difficult for the Polish Government.

Above all, the Government's ability to see the limitations of realistic possibilities was impaired by the guarantee promise which followed.

The Polish Government declined the proposals. Polish public opinion, convinced that England and France would now fight for Poland, began to make demands which one might possibly stigmatize as laughable in insanity were they not so tremendously dangerous. At that point an unbearable terror, a physical and economic persecution of the Germans, although they numbered more than a million and a half, began in the regions ceded by the Reich.

I don't want here to speak of the atrocities that occurred. Suffice it to say that Danzig, too, was made increasingly conscious through continuous aggressive acts by Polish officials of the fact that apparently it is irretrievably delivered over to the high-handedness of a Power foreign to the national character of the city and its population.

May I now take the liberty of putting the question to you, Herr Daladier, how would you act as a Frenchman if, through some unhappy issue, of a brave struggle, one of your provinces were severed by a corridor occupied by a foreign Power? And if a big city—let us say, Marseille—were hindered from belonging to France and if Frenchmen living in this area were persecuted, beaten and maltreated, yes, murdered in a bestial manner?

You are a Frenchman, Herr Daladier, and I therefore know how you would act. I am a German, Herr Daladier. Do not doubt my sense of honor nor my consciousness of duty to act exactly like you. If, then, you had the misfortune that is ours, would you then, Herr Daladier, have any understanding of Germany were without cause to insist that the corridor through France remained, that the robbed territory must not be restored, and that the return of Marseille to France be forbidden?

Certainly I cannot imagine, Herr Daladier, that Germany would fight against you for this reason. For, I and all of us, have renounced Alsace-Lor-

DALADIER'S LETTER.

THE text of Premier Daladier's letter of August 26 to Adolf Hitler—to which Hitler's lengthy letter to Daladier, released early today in Berlin, was a reply:

Very Esteemed Herr Reich's Chancellor!

The French Ambassador in Berlin has acquainted me with your personal communication.

In the hour, in which you speak of the most severe responsibility which two government chiefs can assume under circumstances, that is, to spill the blood of two great peoples which are only longing for peace and work, I am bound to tell you personally and our two peoples that the fate of peace still lies in your hands.

You have neither any doubts as to my feelings toward Germany nor about the amicable feelings of France for your nation. No Frenchman has done more than I have done myself in order not only to strengthen peace between our two peoples but also to assert an upright co-operation in their own interest as well as in the interest of Europe and the world.

If you do not confide to the French people a less high conception of honor than I myself confide to the German people, you cannot doubt that France loyally fulfills its obligations toward other Powers. Powers like for instance, Poland, which, I am convinced, wants to live in peace with Germany.

These two convictions are wholly compatible. Up to now, there is nothing which could prevent a peaceful solution of the international crisis with honor and dignity for all peoples of a free world to peace prevails on all sides.

With the good will of France I acknowledge the good will of all her allies. I myself assume the guarantee for this readiness which Poland always has shown for the procedure of a free exchange as one can imagine between the governments of two sovereign nations.

With my best conscience I rain in order to avoid further bloodshed. Much less would we shed blood in order to maintain an injustice that must needs be as unbearable for you as it would be immaterial to us. I write exactly as you do what you write in your letters, Herr Daladier.

Possibly we, as old front fighters, can best understand each other in a number of fields. I ask you, however, do understand this also: That it is impossible for a nation of honor to renounce the claim of almost 2,000,000 human beings and to see them maltreated at its own borders. I have therefore set up a clear demand to Poland, Danzig and the Corridor must go back to Germany. The Macedonian conditions on our eastern frontier must be removed.

I see no way of persuading Poland which seeks itself as unassailable now that she enjoys the protection of her guarantees, to accept a peaceful solution. I should, however, despair of an honorable future for my people if we were not determined under such circumstances to solve a problem in one way or another.

If our two countries on that account should be destined to can give you the assurance that among those differences which arose between Germany and Poland over the Danzig question, there are none which could not be subjected to such procedure for a just and peaceful solution.

Upon my honor I can also testify that in the clear and upright solidarity of France with Poland and their allies there is nothing which could in any way prejudice the peaceful feelings of my fatherland. This solidarity has never prevented us and does not prevent us today from upholding Poland in this peaceful attitude.

In such a serious hour I believe sincerely that no noble thinking man could understand that a war of destruction should be undertaken without a last attempt of a peaceful solution between Germany and Poland.

Your will to peace could be applied with all determination without doing harm in any way to the German honor.

I, as chief of the French Government who desires a good harmony between the French and the German peoples, and who on the other hand is connected with Poland through bonds of friendship and through the pledged word, am ready to make every effort which an upright man can undertake, to lead this attempt to a good end.

You as well as I were front fighters in the last war. You as well as I know what abhorrence and condemnation the destructions of the war left in the conscience of the people regardless of how the war ended. The idea I have about you in your outstanding role as leader of the German people on the road of peace, towards the completion of its task in a mutual work of civilization leads me to request an answer to this proposal.

If French and German blood flows again as 25 years ago in a still longer and more murderous war, each of the two peoples will fight with confidence in their own victory. Destruction and barbarism will be the surest winner.

meet again or the field of battle, there would nevertheless be a difference in the motives. I, Herr Daladier, shall be leading my people in a fight to rectify a wrong, whereas the others will be fighting to preserve that wrong.

That is the more tragic since many important men, also among your own people, have recognized the insanity of the solutions then found (meaning at Versailles), as also the impossibility of maintaining it lastingly. I am perfectly clear about the serious consequences which such a conflict will entail. I believe, however, the Poles would have to bear the greatest burden, for, regardless of who wins in a war about this question, the Polish state of today will be lost in any way you calculate.

That our two peoples should now see a new, bloody war of destruction is painful not only for you but also for me, Herr Daladier. As already observed, I see no possibility for us on our part to exert influence in the direction of reasonableness upon Poland for correcting a situation that is unbearable for the German people and the German Reich.

(Signed). ADOLF HITLER.

KENNEDY SEEKING SHIPS TO CARRY AMERICANS HOME

Ambassador Trying to Induce Vessels to Make Unscheduled Stops in England to Aid Tourists.

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP).—Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy extended his efforts last night to aid Americans in obtaining transportation homeward from Europe.

As his own family hastened to London from the French Riviera, the Ambassador announced the Embassy was seeking to induce vessels to make unscheduled visits to British ports in order to evacuate Americans—especially women and children.

"Recent cancellations of ship sailings have aggravated the position for several weeks in advance, the Ambassador announced the Embassy was seeking to induce vessels to make unscheduled visits to British ports in order to evacuate Americans—especially women and children."

"Several sailings have been canceled by German and Italian vessels in the last week."

"As vessels regularly serving British ports are booked to capacity for several weeks in advance, the Embassy is attempting to induce the owners of vessels from other runs to put into British ports to assist in the evacuation of American citizens—principally women and children."

"There is a possibility of securing several such vessels if the owners can be assured of sufficient business to warrant taking the ships off their regular runs. All Americans who are interested in securing such accommodations are requested to communicate with the Embassy on Monday."

Best estimates were that about 10,000 Americans are in Europe with more than half that number seeking a way to get home. The rest, detained by business or other imperative reasons, plan to remain.

About 3000 Americans in France were advised to go to Cherbourg and Le Havre and await the first opportunity to sail.

American striving to leave Germany were handicapped by the curtailment of air and rail service across the borders.

United States Representative Hamilton Fish of New York left Berlin yesterday for the French frontier, not knowing he was to get across.

A small group of Americans was stranded in Lisbon, Portugal, by cancellation of Italian sailings.

Fresh worry for Americans in Paris came with the Government's "pressing notice" to civilians to leave the city.

Few Americans Remain in Warsaw; 4 Women Depart.

WARSAW, Aug. 28 (AP).—With the departure tonight of four American women, only a handful of Americans of non-Polish stock will remain in Poland's capital to face possible war.

The women, scheduled to go to Stockholm and Oslo via Latvia, Estonia and Finland are: Mrs. William M. Cramp, wife of an American Consul; Mrs. C. Burke Elbrick, wife of a secretary of the Embassy; and Mrs. M. Williams Blake and Mrs. E. Tomlin Bailey, wives of Vice-Consuls.

Mrs. Anthony J. Drexel Biddle Jr., wife of the American Ambassador; her daughter, Miss Boyce Thompson Schulz; and her secretary, Miss Mary MacKenzie, will be among the few American women remaining in Warsaw aside from a small number married to Poles and several attached to the Embassy staff.

Scattered throughout Poland, however, are some 6000 Americans of Polish origin, some with American citizenship, some American-born and some with dual nationalities.

Those on Embassy Staff. Members of the American Embassy remaining here in addition to Ambassador Biddle are: North Winship, Counselor; C. Burke Elbrick, secretary; Major William H. Colburn, military attaché; and Thord O. Klath, commercial attaché.

Henderson Arrives in Berlin With British Note to Hitler

ed on the Hitler correspondence without, in the opinion of some German leaders, doing justice to Hitler's arguments.

"Macedonian Conditions." Hitler cited what he called "Macedonian conditions" prevailing along other parts of the frontier, presumably Upper Silesia. The plain inference was that Germany has claims in this direction, too. Germans use "Macedonian" as a synonym for "terrorist."

To Daladier, Hitler spoke as one soldier-patriot to another. He said he wanted nothing more for Germany than Daladier would want for France, if France were in Germany's "intolerable" position.

France, Hitler argued, would not tolerate a foreign corridor through its territory, so why should Germany?

The argument, it was said in informal quarters, was designed to appeal to the French sense of logic for which Hitler frequently has expressed admiration.

The demands on Poland definitely were increased, because Hitler had been on record before only for a "corridor through the Corridor"—a strip of territory to connect Germany with Danzig and the isolated province of East Prussia.

Now Poland's right to a corridor to the Baltic Sea is conceded no longer. The comment about "Macedonian conditions" farther south was regarded as a hint other claims might be taken up in the future.

"I have made an offer to the Polish Government which shocked the German people," he said. "Nobody but myself could even dare to go before the public with such an offer. It could therefore be made only once."

"I am deeply convinced that if especially England at that time had, instead of starting a wild campaign against Germany in the press and instead of launching rumors of a German mobilization, somehow talked the Poles into being reasonable, Europe today and for 25 years could enjoy a condition of deepest peace."

"As things were, however, Polish public opinion was excited by a lie about German aggression. Clear decisions which the situation called for were made difficult for the Polish Government. Above all, the Government's ability to see the limitations of realistic possibilities was impaired by the guarantee promise which followed."

"Unbearable Terror." "The Polish Government declined the proposals. Polish public opinion, convinced that England and France would now fight for Poland, began to make demands which one might possibly stigmatize as laughable insanity were they not so tremendously dangerous. At that point an unbearable terror, a physical and economic persecution of the Germans, although they numbered more than a million and a half, began in the regions ceded by the Reich."

"I see no way of persuading Poland, which feels herself as unassailable now that she enjoys the protection of her guarantees, to accept a peaceful solution. I should, however, despair of an honorable future for my people, if it were not determined under such circumstances to solve the problem in one way or another."

Hitler concluded: "That our two peoples should now enter a new, bloody war of destruction is painful not only for you but also for me, Herr Daladier. As already observed, I see no possibility for us on our part to exert influence in the direction of reasonableness upon Poland for correcting a situation that is unbearable for the German people and the German Reich."

Meets Reichstag Members. Hitler met several hundred members of the Reichstag in his grand Chancellery yesterday, and was officially announced, spoke them of "the seriousness of the hour."

What the Fuehrer told the members was not disclosed, but the official German news agency, it brought a "stormy ovation."

Some time after the announcement was made Propaganda Ministry officials explained that meeting did not qualify as an official sitting of the Reichstag. Members, numbering "a few hundred" of the 800-odd Deputies, had lunch with Hitler, the Propaganda Ministry spokesman said. They minimized the importance of the session.

Danzig Women and Children Being Moved to Country for Safety

Free City's Army Digging Trenches, Erecting Barbed Wire, Setting Up Guns—"Day Is Near, Very Near," Says Nazi Paper.

DANZIG, Aug. 28 (AP).—Women and children were being moved from Danzig and neighboring Zoppot to the country today as Danzig's army spread out over the western half of the Free State setting up anti-aircraft guns and machine-gun nests, digging trenches and erecting new barbed wire.

Semi-official sources estimated 3000 of the 30,000 regular inhabitants of the smart seaside resort at Zoppot had left. Hotels almost were deserted.

No estimate of the number who have left Danzig could be obtained. Astonished villagers watched soldiers digging trenches across pastures and corn fields and stringing barbed wire a few hundred yards in front of the trenches.

At various points soldiers were posted to watch the sky toward the Polish corridor for airplanes. Anti-aircraft guns, some camouflaged and some in the open, were manned by troops who had their small tents nearby.

Police declared the air over Danzig a closed area yesterday and that any unauthorized plane flying over the city would be fired upon.

In Danzig anti-aircraft guns were set up in fields near the important shipbuilding works and oil and gasoline tanks in the harbor area. Fully equipped troops in trucks moved out of the city at intervals, mostly toward the Polish border. Most observers were of the opinion that great quantities of German war equipment had been moved into Danzig from East Prussia during the past several nights.

The pontoon over the Vistula River, recently completed, is guarded by half a dozen machine guns, anti-aircraft guns and patrols.

A communication line has been established on the highway to East Prussia and it was believed that a field headquarters has been set up outside the city and that many troops are being housed in some of the barns and houses along the road.

Semi-official quarters said Poland had continued to hold up carloads of food destined for the Free City and that only a month's supply of many vital necessities was on hand.

It was reported reliably today that the making of whipped cream, a favorite dish in Danzig, probably would be forbidden this week.

The official Nazi newspaper, the Danziger Vorposten, which usually issued two editions daily, has been printing five and six recently to keep up with developments.

Vorposten said today "the day is near, very near."

UPPER SILESIA GET SHARP DEFENSE ORDER

Gleiwitz Citizens Told to Make "Blackout" Preparations at Once.

GLEIWITZ, Germany, Aug. 28 (AP).—A sharp order for immediate introduction of anti-air raid protection measures appeared in the Gleiwitz press yesterday.

The command, signed by the Prefect of Police of the Upper Silesian industrial region, which for the last 26 hours has been an "area of military operation," states that if temporary blackout preparations are not immediately made by the owners of houses, police measures still will be introduced.

Power to force "slow and unwilling" persons to take the necessary protective measures has been conferred upon the police and upon officers of the Reich's air-raid protection society.

Temporary blackout measures and makeshift bomb cellars must be changed later to permanent fixtures for protection.

With the help of the police and the Reich's air raid protection society, rooms will be chosen in civilian buildings which are, by construction, most suitable for raid cellars.

Protection of the industrial region—smelting furnaces, rolling mills and factories—will be supervised by a special "group for the protection of industrial works."

The appearance of 88 troops this afternoon marked another step in the militarization of the Upper Silesian industrial region.

The wearing of their green field uniforms instead of just black parade equipment, and riding in automobiles and trucks carrying the "POL" letters of the national police, was an indication that these men have been detailed for patrol work.

Youths in the labor service were seen today wearing the yellow band around the left arm bearing the words "Deutsche Wehr Macht," indicating they had been drafted for army work.

Row upon row of civilian automobiles were lined up in front of the police station here, bearing new police license plates.

Political leaders are appearing in increasing numbers. And a six-wheeled, nine-passenger automobile drew up in front of army headquarters at the Hotel Haus Ober-schlesien last afternoon carrying Nazi party officials. It flew the Government flag and the flag of the Gau (district) leader.

Officers wearing the epaulet marking of the high command of the army in the noncombatant arms of the service are numerous at staff headquarters.

AUSTRALIA BARS GOLD EXPORT

Also Restricts Overseas Exchange by Banks and Private Remittances.

CANBERRA, Australia, Aug. 28 (AP).—A Government proclamation, published today, forbids the export of gold and currency from Australia and institutes strict control of overseas exchange transactions.

The order limits sale or exchange by trading banks to £5000 (about $25,000) for each person a month for business purposes, and restricts private remittances to £5 a month.

STRASBOURG FRONTIER CLOSED

France Sharply Limits Travel Across Rhine Into Germany.

PARIS, Aug. 28 (AP).—The Rhine frontier between France and Germany was closed this morning at Strasbourg.

The only persons permitted to cross the bridge from Strasbourg to Kehl were German residents of the French frontier zone and tourists returning to Germany.

SLOVAK GOVERNMENT CLOSES FRONTIER WITH HUNGARY

German Troops Pour Into Bratislava and Capital Is Taken Over by Nazi Command.

BUDAPEST, Aug. 28 (AP).—The Slovak Government closed its frontier with Hungary at midnight last night. Reports from Bratislava said German troops were pouring into the Slovak capital from Vienna and being taken by train and bus north to the Polish frontier.

For the first time, Bratislava was taken over officially by the German army command. German troops guarded all buildings and stations in the Slovak capital.

Hungary's "Supreme Defense Council" met today for what the official Hungarian agency said was to "deal with possible defense measures in case of an emergency arising from the international situation."

Former Army Leader Appointed as New Premier of Japan

of the present Government would be reappointed.

Many Japanese obviously were worried as to whether Russia, taking advantage of its isolation from the present European crisis through the pact with Germany, might attempt to hamper Japan on the Asiatic continent.

This might come, it was said, in an attempt to drive into Manchoukuo from the Outer Mongolian border—zone of sporadic hostilities more than three months—or through Japanese-controlled Inner Mongolia into North China.

It was reasoned the U. S. S. R. had sufficient manpower to occupy Japan's Manchoukuo forces and possibly necessitate reinforcement at the expense of Japanese strength in China.

A long-range duel between gunners in Sovietized Outer Mongolia and Japanese-protected Manchoukuo, near the confluence of the Khalka and Khorotin Rivers, has persisted since the Japanese began a counter-attack last Thursday.

The Japanese news agency reported the Japanese, on Sunday, shot down 19 of 40 aerial raiders from Outer Mongolia.

A Foreign Office spokesman declined to say whether the Government believed Russia was attempting to take advantage of her accord with Germany in Europe to spread border warfare in Asia.

The news agency Domei said Lieutenant-General Rensuke Isogai, chief of staff of the army in Manchoukuo, and Vice-Admiral Zengo Yoshida, commander-in-chief of the combined fleet, would become war and navy ministers, respectively.

Mamoru Shigemitsu, Ambassador to London, was expected to be named foreign minister to succeed Arita, who bore the principal blame for Japan's diplomatic reversal.

Arita was a principal in negotiation of the anti-Comintern pact between Germany and Japan, signed Nov. 25, 1936, and which Italy joined later, Koki Hirota then was premier. Recently Arita attempted to extend economic ties with the Rome-Berlin axis while the Government considered a military alliance.

"Queer Situation Developed," Hiranuma told the press with conclusion of the non-aggression pact a complicated and queer situation developed in Europe.

"In view of this, the Government decided to break with the formula which so far had been in preparation and set up a new one based on a new idea."

"This signifies a change in the Government's policy, whereupon I go far have reported to the throne."

"As head of the Cabinet I feel much responsible for this (the reversal), so it is not the time for me to remain in office."

The Emperor gave Hiranuma the customary command to attend to administrative affairs until a successor is installed.

Hiranuma's government failed to attain the average life of Japanese cabinets—18 months after realizing his life-long ambition to serve in the premiership, the Baron was supposed to be ready to accept retirement after a brilliant legal career.

Hiranuma had been Premier since last Jan. 5.

HONGKONG, Aug. 28 (AP).—Several thousand Japanese troops began withdrawing today from the area occupied by Japan on the border between this British crown colony and the Chinese mainland.

The troops could be observed boarding transports just outside British territorial waters, where they disembarked 12 days ago, leaving only small guard units at a few points on the Chinese side of the boundary.

The withdrawal was regarded here as visible evidence supporting repeated Japanese assurances the Japanese army intended no threat to Hongkong.

Hongkong took the final step in preparing against war with the announcement of the application of the Defense of the Realm Act, adopted last week by the British Parliament.

The German Consul advised all German nationals to leave Hongkong.

Throughout China yesterday Government offices and memorial temples commemorated the 24th anniversary of the birth of Confucius, venerated as the "matchless sage of 10,000 generations."

SUITCASE TOSSED INTO LONDON CROWD; WOMEN CRY, 'BOMBS!'

But Misses Released in Front of No. 10 Downing Street Are Only Black Rubber Balls.

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP).—Women screamed "Bombs!" and many were knocked to the pavement in a stampede in Downing Street today shortly before the British Cabinet met.

A suitcase was hurled into the air, releasing several dozen round black objects among the crowd watching the Cabinet Ministers arrive at No. 10 Downing Street. However, instead of bombs, it was a shower of black rubber balls with chalked slogans, "Peace now!" and "Britain Must Not Go to War!"

Mounted police rode into the jam and arrested a hatless eccentric who had thrown the suitcase. "There is nothing in it," he muttered as he was taken away. Shouts of "Lynch him!" came from the crowd.

Two Illinoisans in Spain Released. LE HAVRE, France, Aug. 28 (AP).—Eleven American prisoners, including Robert Steck of Rock Island, Ill., and William Stone of Chicago, captured by Spanish Nationalists during the civil war, are on their way home.

MAST GERMAN LINER
U. S. ORDERED HOME
Bremen Arrives at New York —Must Return Quickly Without Passengers.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP).—North German Lloyd liner Bremen arrived today and line executives announced that the vessel had been ordered to return to Germany without passengers within 24 hours. The Bremen was due to dock at New York today.

The Hamburg-American line announced that the last remaining German passenger ship in American port, sailed today without passengers as did its sister ship the St. Louis last night. Neither of the vessels planned any stopovers before reaching Germany.

The sudden moving up of departure coincided with a report that the radio station WMCA that had been accepted as a short-wave radio station from Europe calling about 50 ships at sea by name and directing them a general code message. The radio station said the broadcast ended with an order in German to "act on your special instructions."

The British admiralty's action assuming control of the merchant shipping increased, after over two war-risk insurance price hikes in a week and the disruption of schedules causing huge losses in the millions of dollars. The Cunard-White Star Line announced today the cancellation of five westbound sailings: The Atlantic from Havre, Sept. 1, for New York; the Seydlitz from Liverpool, Sept. 1, for Boston and New York; the Alania from Havre to New York, originally scheduled for Sept. 25; the Aurania from Havre, Sept. 25, for Montreal, and the Aquila from Havre, Sept. 8, for Montreal.

ST. GERMAN LINER U. S. ORDERED HOME

Arrives at New York —Must Return Quickly
Without Passengers.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP).—The German liner Bremen arrived at New York today and line executives announced that the vessel had been ordered to return to Germany without passengers within 24 hours. The Bremen was due to dock at 3 p. m.

The Hamburg-American liner Bremen arrived, which, before the Bremen was ordered to return to Germany without passengers, was the last remaining German passenger ship in an American port, sailed today without passengers as did its sister ship, the St. Louis last night. Neither of the vessels planned any stops before reaching Germany.

The sudden moving up of departure coincided with a report by radio station WMCA that it had intercepted a short-wave broadcast from Europe calling about 50 Nazi ships at sea by name and delivering them a general order message.

The radio station said the broadcast ended with an order in German to "act on your special secret instructions."

The British admiralty's action in assuming control of the ship's merchant shipping increased tension in shipping circles, already jittery over two war-risk insurance price hikes in a week and the disruption of schedules causing revenue losses in the millions of dollars.

The Cunard-White Star Line announced today the cancellation of the westbound sailings: The Britannic from Havre, Sept. 1, for New York; the Scythia from Liverpool, Sept. 1, for Boston and New York; the Alania from Havre to Montreal, originally scheduled for Aug. 28; the Aurania from Havre, Sept. 1, for Montreal; and the Ascania from Havre, Sept. 8, for Montreal.

U. S. STRENGTHENS POSITION ON PRODUCING WAR MATERIAL
No Longer Dependent on Chile for Nitrates, Synthetic Product Largely Supplying Need.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP).—The United States has strengthened its position as a producer of nitrates, potash, platinum and some other strategic war minerals since the World War, but is more dependent on foreign countries for manganese, chromium and nickel.

Dr. John W. Finch, director of the Bureau of Mines, said this country no longer was virtually dependent on Chile for nitrates, since a substantial part of the consumption is supplied by synthetic material. He added that a large part of the nation's supply of potash was produced at home and that the capacity was ample to supply all needs.

Operations in Alaska have increased the domestic production of platinum, while molybdenum and vanadium supplies are adequate, he said.

Pyrite, which the United States imported from Spain during the World War, is now produced in substantial quantities, Finch said.

SWEDEN TO REMAIN NEUTRAL
Prime Minister Says Policy Will Be Followed Vigorously.

STOCKHOLM, Aug. 28 (AP).—Sweden's Prime Minister, P. A. Hansson, in a public address yesterday said "whatever happens, Sweden's line of action is clear: it is the line of strict neutrality, which will be upheld and defended."

The Government has taken all steps which are now necessary for protection and vigilance and if necessary will strengthen and extend them.

SOVIET ENVOY LEAVES BERLIN
Recall of Military Attache Is Not Explained.

BERLIN, Aug. 28 (AP).—Without explanation, the official German news agency last night announced that the Soviet Military Attache in Berlin, Col. Gerassimoff, had been recalled by his Government.

Whether there was any connection between the Colonel's recall and the new German-Russian non-aggression and consultation pact could not be learned.

QUEEN ELIZABETH GOING HOME
Will Return From Balmoral Castle to London Tomorrow.

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP).—Queen Elizabeth decided today to cut short her summer vacation at Balmoral Castle in Scotland and return to London tomorrow morning. The King returned Thursday.

Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose will remain in Scotland indefinitely.

J. C. Woodward, Educator, Dies.

COLLEGE PARK, Ga., Aug. 28 (AP).—Col. John Charles Woodward, founder and president of Georgia Military Academy, died of a heart attack last night. He was 73 years old. He was the founder and former president of the American Association of Military Colleges and Schools.

U. S. ARMY EXHIBITS NEW ANTI-TANK GUN TO UNION VETERANS

Weapon Will Penetrate Two-Inch Armor, Fire 25 Rounds a Minute.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 28 (AP).—The army arranged for a small group of Union veterans today its first public demonstration of a new 37-millimeter gun which an officer said was the "world's best" anti-tank weapon and the army's finest defense weapon.

The gun was brought here from the Government proving grounds at Aberdeen, Md.

Lieut. Eli Stevens, commanding a detachment of the Twelfth United States Infantry, said the 950-pound gun, after being tested secretly, had its first showing before army men at Fort Howard, Md., Saturday.

"It's so simple a baby could operate it," said Stevens. "It will penetrate two-inch armor or a concrete wall two feet thick at 1500 yards. It will shoot with accuracy for seven miles. It has the highest velocity of any weapon known to the world today—2600 feet per second. It'll put out 25 rounds of ammunition a minute."

"By pulling a lever, one can swing it freely from side to side and take care of a number of high-speed tanks."

The gun is designed to replace the heavy one-pounders the army used for sniping in the World War. Two men were required to man the one-pounders; the new gun needs only one.

The army's new semi-automatic rifle, designed to be at least three times more powerful than enemy rifles and to revolutionize the infantry, also was shown.

Another exhibit was the army's new "one-man radio station," by which a soldier, carrying sending and receiving sets strapped to his back, can communicate with a fellow soldier two miles away.

SQUALUS IS PUT BACK ON BOTTOM AFTER BOW SINKS

Forward Section Rises to Top but Settles, and Cannot Be Brought Up Again With Stern Raised.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Aug. 28 (AP).—Unable to list the bow of the submarine Squalus with the stern of the vessel surfaced, navy salvagers late today gently set the entire length of the craft back on the ocean bottom.

All day long the salvage vessels pumped air into the Squalus' bow, which once reared above the ocean's surface and then slowly settled.

Shortly after 3 p. m., Rear Admiral Cyrus W. Cole, chief of salvage operations, advised the Navy Yard:

"Bow could not be lifted with stern pontoons on surface. Vented down tanks and set Squalus on bottom at 3:18 p. m. Will make inspection."

Bow Sinks to Bottom.
At 10:44 a. m., the bow crept above the ocean waves and slowly sank back into 90 feet of water. At 11:28 a. m., the stern pontoons surfaced and attempts were begun to start relifting the forward section.

At that time Navy Yard officials said they believed operation, progressing in an entirely satisfactory manner and they then expected the Squalus would be surfaced momentarily.

A mountain of water, hissing and seething with escaped compressed air, rose with the submarine's bow. It emerged less spectacularly, because expected, than on July 13, when the disabled submersible shot its dripping prow up into the sunlight from 40 fathoms, shook itself free of lifting pontoons and plunged back to the ocean floor.

A calm sea favored salvaging operations today.

The Squalus had been lifted to within 60 feet of the surface in two previous lifting operations.

Before today's operations began, navy officers said the Squalus might be towed to Portsmouth and the 26 dead aboard it removed by nightfall.

With a cool breeze kicking up a slight chop, the salvage ship Falcon started soon after daybreak the twin operation of blowing water from the flooded after compartment of the craft and pushing air into the ballast tanks normally used for surfacing it.

LOS ANGELES PLANE PLANTS AHEAD OF EXPORT SCHEDULES

Three Factories Producing Monthly Average of $7,500,000 Worth of Ships.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28 (AP).—Deliveries from Los Angeles County airplane manufacturing plants on orders totalling $63,000,000 from foreign governments are well ahead of schedule. This county embraces the greatest aircraft production area in the world.

President James L. Beebe of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, said the Douglas Aircraft Co., Lockheed Aircraft Corporation and North American Aviation, Inc., were 93 ships ahead of scheduled commitments as of Aug. 26.

"Deliveries on the $63,000,000 worth of military planes, chiefly to France and England, are not due until April, 1940, yet Los Angeles County plants already have delivered more than $28,000,000 worth, or nearly half the total required," he said.

Beebe said the three plants were producing a monthly average of $7,500,000 worth of airplanes for England and France.

DOUBLE JOB TRANSFER BALKS PAIR WANTING TO BE TOGETHER

Each of Twin Brothers Gets Himself Moved to Teaching Post

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 28 (AP).—For 12 years Father Louis Keenoy taught at Rockhurst College here.

His twin brother, Father Francis Keenoy, taught at Regis College, Denver, for the same time.

When they were ordained the twins promised each other some day they would try to get assigned to the same schools. Not telling his brother, Francis Keenoy applied for a transfer to Rockhurst.

The request was granted. He arrived Saturday, to find his brother, keeping it a secret, had applied for transfer to Regis. His application was granted, too.

"Well, there you are," said Father Francis Keenoy. "We asked for it, but it's still our dream, and we'll get there some day."

LINER'S WINDOWS BLACKENED

British Captain Ordered to Show as Little Light as Possible.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 28 (AP).—The British liner Highland Monarch arrived here today with port-holes windows painted black. The captain said he had received instructions at sea Saturday to show as little light as possible.

The order halted a ship's ball, as most lights were immediately extinguished.

TROOPS CALLED OUT IN KENTUCKY STRIKE

Order by Guard Commander Follows Wounding of Five Men Near Two Mines.

PINEVILLE, Ky., Aug. 28 (AP).—Wounding of five men, one seriously, resulted in orders today for nearly 40 national guardsmen to move into Bell County, where two strike-affected coal mines have been the scene of numerous disorders in the last week.

The men were shot late yesterday, County Attorney Walter B. Smith said, in a clash between pickets and four men who returned to work last week in one of the mines.

Troops assigned to this county by Brigadier-General Ellerbe Carter were the last of 1250 guardsmen stationed in adjoining Harlan County since May as a result of labor troubles there.

The County Attorney said four of the wounded men—Arnold Smith, Albert Ott, Walter Green and Delmer Goodin—were fired on as they rode in an automobile along a road blocked by pickets near the mine of the Kentucky Ridge Coal Co. They returned the fire, he said. Arnold Smith was wounded seriously.

The fifth victim was identified by the County Attorney as Richard Lawson, a Deputy Sheriff and a mine picket.

The Kentucky Ridge mine and the nearby Coleman Fuel Co. mine were closed several months ago by a strike of employees protesting against the companies' refusal to sign contracts with the United Mine Workers.

PLUNGES FROM CHICAGO BOAT

Woman Disappears in Lake After Quarrel With Husband.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP).—Mrs. Thomas Hyland of Hammond, Ind., plunged into Lake Michigan from the deck of the excursion steamer, City of Grand Rapids last night as it neared Chicago from a trip to Milwaukee. The boat, with 1250 passengers, was brought about and its crew made an unsuccessful search for her body.

Mrs. Hyland had quarreled with her husband almost constantly on the trip from Milwaukee. Herbert Jansen, a deck guard, tried to pacify them and heard Mrs. Hyland say: "I'll get even if it's the last thing I do."

British Submarine Thetis Dragged Eight Miles Toward Shore.
LIVERPOOL, England, Aug. 28 (AP).—The British submarine Thetis, in which 99 men lost their lives on a test dive in Liverpool Bay, June 1, was dragged eight miles toward shore today in the first successful lift by salvage experts. Eight additional lifts will be necessary before the Thetis can be beached.

PRESIDENT OF ECUADOR HAILS ROOSEVELT'S PLEA FOR PEACE

Wires White House Appeal Deserves Applause Whether Successful or Not.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP).—Aurelio Mosquera Narvaez, President of Ecuador, aligned himself today with President Roosevelt's appeals for peace.

In a telegram to the White House he said:

"In this grave hour I adhere to the new urgent appeal which your excellency has made to European countries to seek the necessary solution of their differences by pacific means. Whether that noble invitation is accepted or not, your excellency will have deserved the applause of all men who are observing, with fear, the approach of a catastrophe for civilization."

HENRY SMITH PRICHTETT DIES

Educator Who Headed Carnegie Endowment Succumbs at 82.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Aug. 28 (AP).—Dr. Henry Smith Pritchett, 82 years old, distinguished American educator, died here today.

He was president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology from 1900 to 1906 and president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching from 1906 to 1930. Dr. Pritchett also was a trustee of the Carnegie Institute of Washington and the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Dr. Pritchett was assistant professor of mathematics and astronomy at Washington University from 1881 to 1882, and professor of mathematics and astronomy from 1882 until 1897, when he became superintendent of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey. In 1915 he returned to Washington University for the presentation of an honorary degree.

Strike at Gear Plant Settled.
MUNCIE, Ind., Aug. 28 (AP).—Ed Hall, organizer for the United Automobile Workers (CIO), announced last night a new contract had been signed with the Borg-Warner Corporation for the Warner Gear Co. here, where a strike has been in progress, and that the union would recommend its acceptance by the workers, who meet today to vote on it. The week-old strike at the gear company, a subsidiary of the Borg-Warner Corporation, started from a demand by the union it be allowed to dictate the basis of pay for non-production workers.

GERMANS IN CHINA SLAPPED BY JAPAN
Begin Leaving Because of Accidents Arising From Na Soviet Pact.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 28 (AP).—Germans started leaving Tientsin yesterday as the result of numerous accidents in which Japanese planes have slapped German planes since conclusion of the man-Soviet non-aggression pact. Repressions of the Soviet-Japanese pact were reported from numerous other Chinese cities. German emblems, which got a fr Japanese salute until last week, suddenly disappeared from buildings in Shanghai and Peiping. Japanese in Peiping were ordered to have received instructions "cease provoking the feelings of the Chinese and not to stage any other anti-British demonstrations."

Doubt as to Japan's Court Informed foreigners said, ever, that it was too early to dict what way the Japanese turn next as a result of the First, a relaxation of anti-movements, or second, a blow against all foreign in China designed to prove the Japanese army's independence of abroad.

One source of new Japanese tension developed with the demand of the Japanese army for a paper Tairiku Shimpo for a leader of Chinese soldiers in the International Settlement paper said Japanese authorities were "greatly concerned" by 6000 former Chinese soldiers entered during the Shanghaiing in 1937 still were held. International Settlement. Meanwhile an acute shortage, principal item of the diet, was relieved by the arrival of large rice supplies in Shanghai. Japanese announced they brought in about 1,600,000 over the week-end for distribution to the Chinese. Further supply of 13,000,000 pounds were to have been arranged by the Japanese while Chinese dealers and other shipments themselves.

"New Kuomintang" Meets A secret session of the Kuomintang party congress sided over by Wang Ching-wei, the pro-Japanese faction of China, was reported to have adopted a motion of the for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek for failure to make peace.

Wang was said to have elected President of the new at the all-day session, from Japanese conspicuously away. The 24 Chinese delegates represented various provinces, guilds and trades. The meeting was held at the fortified home of Wang, just outside the International Settlement.

Reports from Tientsin said danger of disease was added to the misery of the flood-stricken region where drowning and starvation already were taking the Police of the International Settlement were ordered to shoot on sight.

GERMANS IN CHINA SLAPPED BY JAPANESE

Begin Leaving Because of Incidents Arising From Nazi-Soviet Pact.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 28 (AP).—Germans started leaving Tientsin yesterday as the result of numerous incidents in which Japanese gunboats have slapped German citizens since conclusion of the German-Soviet non-aggression pact.

Repercussions of the Nazi-Communist pact were reported from numerous other Chinese cities. Swastika emblems, which got a friendly Japanese salute until last week, virtually disappeared from automobiles in Shanghai and Peiping.

Japanese in Peiping were reported to have received instructions to "cease provoking the feelings of whites" and not to stage any further anti-British demonstrations.

Doubt as to Japan's Course.

Informed foreigners said, however, that it was too early to predict what way the Japanese would turn next as a result of the pact.

Two possibilities were seen: First, a relaxation of anti-foreign movements, or second, a sudden blow against all foreign interests in China designed to prove the Japanese army's independence of events abroad.

One source of new Japanese foreign tension developed with the demand of the Japanese army newspaper Tairiku Shimpō for surrender of Chinese soldiers interned in the International Settlement. The paper said Japanese authorities were "greatly concerned" because 600 former Chinese soldiers who entered during the Shanghai fighting in 1937 still were held in the International Settlement.

Meanwhile an acute shortage of rice, principal item of the Chinese diet, was relieved by the arrival of Japanese supplies in Shanghai. Japanese announced they had brought in about 1,600,000 pounds over the week-end for distribution to the Chinese. Further shipments of 12,000,000 pounds were said to have been arranged by the Japanese while Chinese dealers arranged other shipments themselves.

"New Kuomintang" Meets.

A secret session of the "new Kuomintang" party congress presided over by Wang Ching-Wei, the pro-Japanese former Premier of China, was reported today to have adopted a motion of censure for Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek for failure to make peace.

Wang was said to have been elected President of the new party at the all-day session, from which Japanese conspicuously stayed away. The 240 Chinese delegates represented various provinces, guilds and trades. The meeting was held at the fortified home of Wang, just outside the International Settlement.

Reports from Tientsin said the danger of disease was adding to the misery of the flood-stricken region where drowning and starvation already were taking their toll. Police of the International Settlement were ordered to shoot looters on sight.

905 CORKBALL TEAM IS

SECOND-HALF WINNER

The 905 team captured the second half season title in the American Corkball Association when it won two games from the Universals by scores of 3-0 and 1-0, yesterday.

The 905's and Tinsley will meet in a best of three series for the league championship.

Other results: Florissant-Bremen 1-0, Stars 0-1, Shaw 0-0, Michigan A. C. 0-0. Tinsley won two by forfeit from the 50 Limit Club, as did the Roes from the Muehlings.

DISTRICT SINGLES

TO OPEN SATURDAY

The St. Louis District singles tennis championships for both men and women players will get under way next Saturday afternoon. The men's event will be played on the A Club courts, while the Triple A Club courts will be the scene of the women's singles. Entries for the men's singles may be made at sporting goods stores, while the women's singles entries are being received by Mrs. F. J. Furlong, Grand 5965. The entry lists will close at 5 p. m. next Friday.

Playoffs Begin Sept. 5.

ST. LOUIS CITY, La. Aug. 28 (AP).

Western League officials decided here yesterday on a Shaugnessy system playoff to begin Sept. 5.

League leaders will play the third team, second-place team the fourth, and the first-place team the fifth in a five-game series starting with Nos. 1 and 3 teams at home. Winners will play a seven-game series at sites to be determined later.

It's an Ill Wind.

FAIRMOUNT OFFICIALS are having a hard time trying to protect their sore lips today. The Police Department campaign against St. Louis bookmakers, which is now bearing down 100 per cent, is enough to make a

Double Steal Nets Bees a Run

Buddy Hassett, Boston first baseman, scoring on a double steal in the first inning of yesterday's opening game with the Cardinals. Tony Cuccinello swiped second on the play. Don Padgett is trying to tag Hassett, while Umpire George Magerkurth and Henry Madjeski, Bees' infielder, watch the play.

ANDREWS AND SUNKEL POUNDED; STU MARTIN GETS FOUR SAFETIES

By J. Roy Stockton

Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

BOSTON, Aug. 28.—Nate Andrews was wild and ineffective this afternoon, the Cardinal defense was wobbly and the Boston Bees scored six runs in the first inning and took another shot at the Redbird pennant bubble by taking the third game of the series, 10 to 5. It was the sixth defeat in the last nine games for St. Louis, but thanks to the Giants, who defeated the Reds, Ray Blades' team remained five games behind the league leaders.

Four singles, a wild throw by Don Padgett, a fumble by Stuart Martin, a double steal, two bases on balls and a squeeze play sacrifice produced the six runs for the Bees in the first inning. Andrews staying on the hill because of the shortage of pitchers in the Redbird ranks. Nate finally retired for a pinch-hitter in the fifth and the Bees nicked Tom Sunkel for three runs in his first frame on the hill.

Al Moran, a right-handed recruit, just recalled from Hartford, where he won 11 and lost 12 games, went the route for the Bees, coasting to his first major league victory behind the early lead. He stopped Mize and Padgett without a hit and held the Redbirds to nine safeties, four by Stu Martin. Terry Moore hit his ninth homer of the year in the fifth inning.

In the series final tomorrow Bill McGee probably will pitch for the Redbirds if he continues to recover from a cold. Left Erickson is due for the Bees.

The third game of the series attracted 1401 cash customers.

FIRST—CARDINALS—J. Martin popped to Cuccinello. S. Martin beat out a grounder to Cuccinello. Slaughter lined to Garms. S. Martin stole second. Cuccinello threw out Medwick. Moran covering first. BEES—Conroy singled to left. Garms walked. Hassett beat out a high bouncer in front of the plate and when Padgett threw wild to first, Conroy scored. Garms stopped at second. West walked, filling the bases. Cuccinello singled to center, scoring Garms and Hassett, and sending West to third. Majeski was safe on S. Martin's fumble. West scoring, Cuccinello stopping at second. Cuccinello and Majeski worked a double steal as Lopez struck out. Sisti hit to S. Martin and Cuccinello beat the throw to the plate. Majeski reaching third. Moran bunted for a squeeze play sacrifice and was out. Andrews to Mize, Majeski scoring. Conroy singled to right but Sisti was out at the plate. Slaughter to Padgett. SIX RUNS.

SECOND—CARDINALS—Sisti threw out Padgett. Mize filed to West. Moore grounded out to Majeski.

BEES—Garms filed to Slaughter. Hassett tripled to left. S. Martin threw out West. Hassett scoring. Cuccinello grounded to Larry. ONE RUN.

THIRD—CARDINALS—Lary walked. Andrews was called out on strikes. J. Martin hit into a double play, Sisti to Cuccinello to Hassett.

BEES—Majeski singled to center. Lopez filed to Slaughter. Sisti singled to right, sending Majeski to third. Moran walked, filling the bases. Conroy bunted but forced Majeski at the plate. Andrews to Padgett. Garms filed to Medwick.

FOURTH—CARDINALS—S. Martin singled to right. Slaughter walked. Medwick filed to Garms. S. Martin going to third after the catch. Padgett sent a sacrifice fly to Garms. S. Martin scoring. Slaughter holding first. Mize filed to West. ONE RUN.

BEES—Myers played short for the Cardinals. Hassett beat out a grounder to S. Martin. West hit to Mize and both runners were safe when Myers dropped the throw to second. Cuccinello sacrificed. Andrews to Mize. Majeski hit to J. Martin and Hassett was out in the run down. J. Martin to Padgett to J. Martin to Padgett. West reaching third and Majeski second. Lopez filed to Moore.

FIFTH—CARDINALS—Moore hit over the left field wall for a home run. Myers walked. King batted for Andrews and beat out a high bouncer over Moran's head. Myers stopping at second. J. Martin hit into a double play, Sisti to Cuccinello to Hassett. Myers reaching third. S. Martin singled to right for his third straight hit. Russell homered for the Cubs.

Bicycle Breaks Down; Rider Hurt.
Oliver Boerg, 17 years old, 331 St. George street, suffered a skull injury when the front fork of his bicycle broke and he fell to the street as he rode across the Missouri Pacific tracks at Bent avenue last night. He was taken to City Hospital.

This Young Man May

SOON BE BALD

He now seems to have a good head of hair, but each morning he worries over the hair which he finds in his comb and brush. His hair looks nice on the surface, but his scalp itches constantly and is covered with scaly, sticky dandruff. Unless he does something he may be bald within 5 years, because he has seborrhea oleosa, an oily type of dandruff, which responds only to expert treatment.

He—and you, too—may avoid baldness by doing what a quarter-million other men have done — by consulting Thomas. A Thomas specialist will examine your scalp (without charge) and determine exactly which of the 14 local scalp disorders are causing your hair loss. He will then direct the reliable, 20-year proved Thomas treatment to overcome those scalp ills. Your abnormal hairfall should stop, your dandruff should disappear; and help stimulate normal hair growth. Why not come in today for the free scalp examination, and see for yourself how Thomas is helping others to retain their hair, and how Thomas can help you, too.

PLANE CRASHES KILLING PILOT FOR CLEVELAND RACES

High-Powered Craft in Tune-Up Flight Mows Down Swath of Trees in Park Woods.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 28 (AP).—A "jinx" plane being groomed for speed events of the national air races crashed yesterday near the race course, killing its pilot, Delbert Bush, 26, of Leavenworth, Kan. The bullet-like red monoplane took off from the Cleveland airport runway, scene of the aviation carnival starting next Saturday, and flew to the adjoining race course.

Bush roared once around the steel tower pylons marking the course and as he came back across the airport his motor sputtered. He straightened out and continued north beyond the field.

About three-quarters of a mile further his motor stopped. Such planes require more than 100 miles per hour to stay in the air. He was only about 500 feet above the ground. The ship dropped quickly.

Unable to Leave Cockpit.
Bush turned slightly and his parachute fluttered out, but he had no chance to leave his cockpit.

The racer dove into a plowed field, dug a hole in the ground and bounced along into the woods bordering the Cleveland metropolitan park system. It crashed into the trees and was smashed into a heap of wreckage. It did not burn.

Residents and the rescue squad from the airport had to chop into the wreckage to get Bush's smashed body out. He was dead.

Witnessing the plunge from the airport were officials and Bush's partner, William Tholen, also of Leavenworth. They had operated the Bush-Tholen Air Service and Flying School at Kansas City.

Bush's wife, Charlotte, and 10-month-old daughter, Chardell, were in Leavenworth. The speed ship had been expected to participate in the Grieve Trophy race and the Thompson speed race, the premier closed course event of aviation.

The plane had been known to flyers as a "jinx ship." It was originally owned by Joe Jacobson, veteran race pilot, and prepared for last year's air races, but it developed a "flutter" and was withdrawn.

Bush and Tholen had purchased it and Bush cracked up in the plane at Kansas City Aug. 3, but escaped with slight injuries. The landing gear was rebuilt and air race rules require test flying of any rebuilt ship before taking part in contests. Bush had flown the ship eight times.

Bush had a record of 1500 hours in the air and an instructor's rating.

Bethlehem Men Join CIO.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 28 (AP).—The CIO Steel Workers' Organizing Committee announced last night that 48 employees representative from nine mills of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation had affiliated with the CIO union. Each of the 48, the SWOC said, was a duly elected representative under the company representation plan, which the National Labor Relations Board ordered disbanded last Aug. 15.

Notwithstanding a demand from many sportsmen that gigging of fish be prohibited, the commission does not propose to put a prohibitory regulation into effect, although the new regulations will place added restrictions about that type of fishing, which is common to the Ozark region. As at present gigging is limited to non-game fish, and the further regulation is made that gigging may be done only between the hours of 4 o'clock in the morning and 9 o'clock at night. Lights may be used in gigging, but not under-water lights.

Commercial guides will be required to obtain licenses, costing 50 cents per year, the purpose of the commission being more to place guides under regulation than to obtain revenue from that source. A guide will not be permitted to fish or hunt when acting as a guide. He will be required to keep a record of the names and addresses of all persons for whom he serves as guide and the numbers of their permits.

A change is proposed in the season for trapping fur bearing animals, which includes opossum, muskrat, mink, skunk and civet cat, weasel, gray fox and badger. The season will open Dec. 1 instead

Proposed New Regulations For Fishing and Hunting

State Commission Would Require Permits For Women, Make Other Changes—Final Action Next Month.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Aug. 28.—The State Conservation Commission today made public proposed new fishing and hunting regulations which shorten the present fishing season and make somewhat radical changes in both hunting and fishing privileges.

The commission is still open to suggestions regarding the regulations, and while it has tentatively agreed on those made public, it will not take final action on them for several weeks. When finally promulgated, the new rules will not go into effect until Jan. 1, the present regulations remaining in force until that time.

In formulating the new rules, the commission, which was created two years ago to supplant the old political State Fish and Game Department, has proceeded cautiously and acted only after holding many public hearings and making extensive investigations.

Fishing Licenses for Women.

Some changes are made in licensing provisions, the present law permitting women and all persons under 21 years of age to fish without obtaining licenses, being replaced by a regulation prohibiting hunting or fishing by any person more than 16 years old unless licensed. The present rule permitting a person to fish in the county of his residence without a license also is revoked.

Under the new rules a fishing license will cost $1.15, a hunting license $2.15, and a combination hunting and fishing license $2.65. Fifteen cents of the cost of each license will go to the county clerk who issues the license. The non-resident trip fishing license will be $1.15, but it will have a limit of six days instead of the present 15. The annual non-resident fishing license will be $3.15, and the annual non-resident hunting license will be $15.15.

As a means of conserving wildlife which is rapidly disappearing in Missouri, the commission proposes to continue its order of a year ago prohibiting the killing of deer or wild turkey at any time, and adds to the list of prohibited game mammals and birds.

No change is made in the regulations regarding quail shooting, the open season remaining from Nov. 10 to Dec. 31, and the bag limit of 10 in one day and 15 in possession.

Rabbits are brought under protection for the first time, the killing of rabbits being permitted only between July 1 and Oct. 15 and between Nov. 10 and Jan. 31. In addition to a decision that protection is necessary for rabbits, the commission proposes to establish a closed season just before the quail season opens as a further protection from illegal hunting of quail.

Raccoon, Fox Running.

Although raccoons and red fox may not be killed, the regulations will permit hunters to run them with dogs at any time for the sport of the chase.

An important change in the fishing regulations is the prohibition of all fishing in the State between Jan. 1 and May 15. This is for the purpose of further protecting bass and other game fish, which have suffered in the closed season from fishermen who professed to be fishing for perch and other unprotected fish.

Under the regulations, the bass fishing season is changed to provide for a closed season between Jan. 1 and June 15. Under the present law, the bass season opens May 30 and is closed only between April 1 and May 30. It has been found that bass spawn in Missouri waters at least as late as June 15.

Gigging Regulations.

Notwithstanding a demand from many sportsmen that gigging of fish be prohibited, the commission does not propose to put a prohibitory regulation into effect, although the new regulations will place added restrictions about that type of fishing, which is common to the Ozark region. As at present gigging is limited to non-game fish, and the further regulation is made that gigging may be done only between the hours of 4 o'clock in the morning and 9 o'clock at night. Lights may be used in gigging, but not under-water lights.

Commercial guides will be required to obtain licenses, costing 50 cents per year, the purpose of the commission being more to place guides under regulation than to obtain revenue from that source. A guide will not be permitted to fish or hunt when acting as a guide. He will be required to keep a record of the names and addresses of all persons for whom he serves as guide and the numbers of their permits.

A change is proposed in the season for trapping fur bearing animals, which includes opossum, muskrat, mink, skunk and civet cat, weasel, gray fox and badger. The season will open Dec. 1 instead

Fishing Seasons.

The proposed regulations regarding fishing seasons, limits and legal size are:

Black bass of all species. Open season from June 15 to Dec. 31. Creel limit eight in one day, 12 in possession. Minimum size 11 inches.

Rock bass, red-eye, goggle-eye. Open season June 15 to Dec. 31. Creel limit 12 in one day, 18 in possession. Minimum size six inches.

Crappie. Open season May 15 to Dec. 31. Creel limit 12 in one day, 18 in possession. Minimum size, 8 inches.

Jack salmon or wall-eyed pike. Open season May 15 to Dec. 31. Creel limit, four in one day, six in possession. Minimum size, 13 inches.

Channel catfish of all species. Open seasons May 15 to May 31, and July 15 to Dec. 31. Creel limit, four in one day, six in possession. Minimum size, 13 inches.

Sturgeon. Regulations to be announced later.

Silver, white or striped bass. Open season May 15 to Dec. 31. Creel limit, 12 in one day, 18 in possession. Minimum size, 8 inches.

Yellow bass or white perch. Open season, May 15 to Dec. 31. Creel limit, 12 in one day, 18 in possession. Minimum size, 7 inches.

Yellow perch or ringed perch. Open season, May 15 to Dec. 31. Creel limit, 25 in one day, 25 in possession. Minimum size, 7 inches.

Regulations on Trout.

Trout, all species in Roaring River, Bennett Springs and Montauk state parks. Open season, March 1 to Oct. 31. Creel limit, 10 in one day, 15 in possession. Minimum size, eight inches. Trout in all other waters. Open season, May 15 to Dec. 31 with creel limits and minimum size the same as in the three State parks named.

Blue gill or brook. Open season, May 15 to Dec. 31. Creel limit, 12 in one day, 24 in possession. Minimum size, 6 inches.

The total number of fish of all species above named shall not exceed 25 in possession.

Warmouth bass, sunfish, black perch, all species. Open season, May 15 to Dec. 31. Creel limit, 25 in one day, 25 in possession. Minimum size, five inches.

Drum, sheepshead or white perch. Open season, May 15 to Dec. 31. Creel limit, 25 in one day, 25 in possession. Minimum size nine inches.

Minnows. Open season, May 15 to Dec. 31. Creel limit, 50 in one day, 100 in possession. Minimum size, 1½ inches.

Carp and gar. Open season, May 15 to Dec. 31. No limits.

All other fish. Open season, May 15 to Dec. 31. Not more than 25 pounds just before the quail season may be taken in one day by one person, or by the occupants of one boat, regardless of their number, and not more than 50 pounds of fresh fish may be had in possession at one time. This regulation does not apply to holders of seining permits in the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers.

Frogs to Be Protected.

The open season on frogs, which are not now protected, will be from May 15 to Dec. 31, with limits of 15 in one day and 20 in possession. No limit is placed on size of frogs.

The regulations regarding hunting are as follows:

Water fowl and migratory game birds. Federal regulations will apply.

Quail. Open season, Nov. 10 to Dec. 31. Bag limits, 10 in one day, 15 in possession.

Squirrels. Open seasons, July 15 to Oct. 15, and Nov. 10 to Dec. 10. Bag limits, 10 in one day, 25 in possession.

Rabbits. Open seasons, July 1 to Oct. 15, and Nov. 10 to Jan. 31. Bag limits, 20 in one day or in possession on July 1 and Nov. 10, and not more than 30 in possession at any time.

Ground hog (woodchuck). Open season July 1 to Jan. 31. No limits.

The regulations contain provisions governing fur dealers, breeders and many other matters allied with fishing and hunting.

Copies of a complete draft of the regulations will be sent by the commission to sportsmen's organizations and others interested in wildlife. In submitting them, the commission said:

"The regulations as finally determined will become effective Jan. 1, 1940. Until such time as the final revision is made and officially promulgated and published, all regulations governing fishing and hunting remain the same as during the past year.

"The purpose of this compilation is to place before the people of the State for their information those proposals for rules and regulations which the commission, in the light of its research to date, believes to be reasonable and in the best interests of perpetuation, restoration and use of the wildlife and forest resources of the State. The mission will meet about the middle of September to give final consideration to all proposals and to promulgate officially whatever final regulations are determined upon. In the meantime, any comments that will aid in reaching the most intelligent answer are welcome."

Fire in Home, Family on Vacation.

Fire early yesterday in the apartment of Lyman Bardo, 6705A Manchester avenue, caused damage estimated by firemen at $500 to the building and $100 to the contents. The cause was not determined. The Bardo family is away from the city on vacation.

WORLD FLYERS REACH ALASKA FROM JAPAN

Land at Nome After 2400-Mile Trip — Will Visit American Cities.

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 28 (AP).—Their first and most difficult flight safely over, seven Japanese aviators on a round-the-world good-will flight serviced their twin-motored monoplane today for a hop to Whitehorse, Yukon Territory, en route to the United States.

They brought the plane, named the Nippon, down here at 11:02 a. m. (4:02 p. m. St. Louis time) yesterday at the end of a 2400-mile flight across the North Pacific and Bering Sea.

All seven stepped out fresh and unperturbed by the 16-hour flight, made in hazardous weather that cleared as if by prearrangement as the ship reached Komandorskie Island, off the Kamchatka peninsula, and permitted the plane to arrive here only one hour after a Chamber of Commerce reception committee had estimated it would land. The ship had taken off from Hokkaido Island in the Japanese group.

Plans were to take off again today for Whitehorse, weather permitting, then fly to Vancouver, B. C., Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles, before turning east across the United States.

Pilot Sumitoshi Nakao, holder of a Berlin-to-Tokyo flight record, was in command of the ship, flying under sponsorship of the Tokyo newspaper, Nichi Nichi, and the Osaka Mainichi, aviation minded Japanese newspapers. All seven crew members are on the staffs of the papers. The others aboard were Takeo Ohara, designated as a "people's representative" during the flight; Shigeo Yoshida, Hajami Shimokawa, Nobusada Sato, Chosaku Yaokawa and Hiroshi Saeki.

The plane is Japanese built and has a cruising speed of 165 miles an hour.

Pilot Nakao described the Pacific hop as a severe test for the plane and crew. The craft flew through 25 below zero weather and snow and rain. At times the ship rose to 13,000 feet, he said.

Throngs greeted the ship on its arrival here. American and Japanese flags were placed in its standards. Representatives of the army and coast guard were among those on the reception committee.

Newest of Hearst Mergers Goes Into Effect With Publishing of Afternoon Paper.
CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP).—The Chicago Herald-American, newest of the Hearst newspaper consolidations, made its first appearance today.

The fusion of the morning Herald and Examiner and the evening American was announced in a front-page statement in yesterday's final issue of the Herald and Examiner. The scope of the merger includes a Sunday paper, but it, as well as the daily editions, will carry the new name.

The Herald-American, of regular size, announced it would retain a selection of features and department formerly identified with the morning paper.

Merrill Meigs, publisher, said a weight of organizational detail would preclude immediate announcement of how many Herald-Examiner employees would be absorbed by the afternoon paper. The consolidation left the Tribune alone in the Chicago morning daily field.

MCNUTT'S BACKERS TRYING TO ALLAY LABOR'S DISTRUST

McNutt's Campaign Headquarters Issues Bulletin Picturing Him as Pioneer in Aiding Workers.

USE OF TROOPS
IN STRIKES IGNORED

Recent Appointment as Security Administrator Is Cause of Surprised
Queries by Government
Liberals.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Apparently aware of reported opposition to organized labor, forces backing Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt for President yesterday issued a bulletin which attempted to prove that McNutt has been friendly to labor.

The "Labor Record of Paul V. McNutt as Governor of Indiana," printed on expensive paper and mailed from McNutt headquarters in Indianapolis, declares that the handsome Indiana gave "labor its full rights" during his term as chief executive of the State.

It makes no mention, however, of the fact that McNutt several times called out troops in labor disputes. In the course of a strike of auto workers at Terre Haute, Ind., troops were called out to break up a picket line. As a result of this incident McNutt was given the title "Hoosier Hitler" by Norman Thomas, Socialist leader.

Action in Terre Haute Strike.

McNutt's course during the Terre Haute strike was one of the reasons that his appointment as security administrator came as such a shock and surprise to liberals in the Roosevelt administration. It had been thought that he had alienated the forces of organized labor and particularly the CIO.

From an authoritative source the Post-Dispatch has learned of the discussion that took place on this issue when McNutt's appointment was pending following his return from the Philippines. Liberals within the administration had heard that McNutt would be appointed head of the social security system. A considerable consternation they expressed this prospect and finally the group called the President on the telephone.

How do you think labor will react to this appointment? the President was asked. He seemed a little surprised at the question and asked why labor should be particularly concerned. The answer was that if for no other reason, labor would be concerned because under the President's organization or the unemployment compensation service and the employment service both went under social security.

McNutt's Explanation.

Then, too, the President was told, McNutt's action in calling out the national guard in several strikes had antagonized labor. The President replied that McNutt had explained this to him; it had happened when he had been a very young Governor, lacking the experience, Governor of Michigan during the sit-down strikes and now Attorney-General, to come through without having resorted to armed force.

The conversation ended on this note. But promptly the liberals looked at the record. When McNutt called out the troops, they discovered, he had been Governor for three years. When the sit-down strikes occurred in Michigan, Frank Murphy had been Governor for less than a year.

It was too late, of course, to make any real protest to the President on the basis of McNutt's record since the appointment had already been offered to the former Indiana Governor and he had accepted. While the liberals in the administration have given McNutt polite co-operation, they have continued to regard his ambitions with deep suspicion.

Basis of McNutt's Claims.

In the bulletin issued today "44 bills of benefit to labor" are listed as having been approved by McNutt during his term as Governor from 1933 to 1937. He is also credited with having written the labor plank into the Democratic State platform of 1932.

"Many of these laws were of a pioneering nature," the bulletin states, "enacted prior to Federal laws on the same subject and some of them set the example for similar enactments by other states."

The keynote law in this Bill of Rights was the so-called "anti-injunction law," enacted after having been strongly advocated by McNutt in his campaign for Governor.

Included among the 44 laws are many which seem to have little relation to the objectives of organized labor. One of the laws, for example, amended a statute previously on the books to

FHA to Finance $2500 Homes at 5 Per Cent Down

Regulations, Mailed to Banks, Expected to Stimulate Building in South and Small Communities.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP).—The Federal Housing Administration has announced a plan for financing construction of small homes which will require the purchaser to make only a 5 per cent "down payment" on a house costing no more than $2500.

Stewart McDonald, Federal Housing Administrator, said regulations making the program effective Sept. 1 already had been mailed to banks and other lending institutions. The FHA does not lend money itself, but insures construction loans made by private institutions.

The new plan will be limited to low-cost homes—none financed under it may cost more than $2500—and will not affect the present FHA program of financing higher cost homes on a basis of 10 per cent minimum down payment and a 4 1/2 per cent mortgage, plus a one-half per cent insurance premium.

Discount $3.50 for $100.

Under the new plan, loans will be made at a discount rate of $3.50 per $100 borrowed. Officials said this figure is slightly higher on a true interest rate basis than the interest rate on present FHA-insured mortgages. The plan requires, however, that the lending institution pay the insurance premium of one-half per cent a year of the face value of the loan, instead of passing this charge on to the borrower.

The borrowers under the new plan also will be required to pay off the loan in 15 years, whereas under the regular FHA program require trimming of trees and shrubbery at highway intersections and railroad highway crossings.

The pamphlet also includes "endorsements" by labor leaders. Three such endorsements are given, one by a State Senator, identified as having "been active among the workers of Indiana for 28 years"; another delivered at an American Legion convention in 1929; and a third from the Indiana Joint Legislative Committee of the American Federation of Labor and railroad brotherhoods, dated March, 1933. The conflicts that brought down McNutt took place in 1936 and '37.

McNutt Meets Eastern Leaders at Reception.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 28 (AP).—Paul V. McNutt, Federal Security Administrator, "got acquainted" with some New Jersey and Pennsylvania political leaders yesterday.

For three hours McNutt, his wife and daughter, stood in the receiving line at the home of United States Senator William H. Smithers (Dem.), New Jersey, and shook hands with Democratic leaders and their wives as they arrived and departed from an "open house" reception. Senator Smithers, to some guests, introduced McNutt as "our next President." Smithers said: "If the President decides not to run, then McNutt is the man he can trust to carry on his policies."

Andre Tardieu Seriously Ill.

MENTON, France, Aug. 28 (AP).—Andre Tardieu, last surviving French signer of the peace treaty ending the last World War, is reported to be seriously ill. Tardieu, former Vice-Premier and holder of numerous ministerial posts, was stricken with a nervous breakdown several weeks ago.

LUXEMBOURG PRINCE CONSORT AND SON GUESTS OF ROOSEVELT

Felix and Jean Spend Night at White House; Will Go to New York Fair Today.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP).—Prince Consort Felix of Luxembourg and his 15-year-old son, Crown Prince Jean, were supper and overnight guests of President Roosevelt last night.

They arrived in Washington at 5:30 p. m. to be greeted by Secretary of State Hull and other high ranking Government officials in top hats and cutaways. A troop of cavalry escorted them from the station to the Capitol, en route to the White House, after they had been saluted by a marine drum corps at the Union Station.

The Crown Prince, looking younger than his 15 years, was dressed like his father in formal afternoon attire.

The royal pair will be guests at a White House luncheon today, after which they will go to New York to attend the World's Fair.

The welcoming group at the station included: Col. Edwin M. Watson, a White House secretary; Joseph E. Davies, Ambassador to Belgium, a neighboring nation to Luxembourg; J. P. Moffett, chief of the State Department's division of European affairs; George T. Summerlin, chief of the State Department division of Protocol, and Capt. Daniel J. Callaghan, naval aide to President Roosevelt.

CLAIMS RECEIVABLE OCT. 1 FOR SOCIAL SECURITY BENEFITS

Administration Estimates 912,000 Men, Women, Children Will Be Eligible to 1940 Payments.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP).—The Social Security Administration will begin receiving claims Oct. 1 from the 912,000 men, women and children who, it estimates, will be eligible in 1940 for a total of $144,000,000 in old-age insurance and survivor benefits.

Payments for January, the first benefit month, will be made Feb. 1, said John J. Carson, director of the old-age insurance bureau.

He estimated that from 30,000 to 35,000 claims would be filed for the first month by retiring workers, wives, widows, dependent children and dependent parents. The number of recipients will increase each month, he said, as more become eligible under the law. In preparation for the distribution of benefits, the administration is enlarging its field force to provide 400 offices, supplementing them with 200 traveling assistants.

BRITAIN CURBS SALE OF FOREIGN STOCKS, BONDS

Crown Mobilizes Securities Held by Its Nationals in Fourth Important Financial Decree.

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP).—Great Britain has begun mobilizing the vast foreign security investments of her nationals for possible war needs.

It is the fourth financial step of importance taken by the Government since the European situation became acute last Wednesday.

The others were doubling of the Bank of England's discount rate to 4 per cent, the fixing of minimum prices for gilt edged securities and the freeing of the pound from Government market support to conserve gold.

Last night's action was taken under the emergency powers bill enacted last Thursday by a special session of Parliament.

Must Get Permission to Sell.

The order required holders of marketable foreign securities to obtain permission of the British Treasury before disposing of them. It applied to securities "of which the principal interest or dividends are payable in the currencies of the United States, Canada, Argentina, Belgium, France, Netherlands, the Dutch East Indies, Norway, Sweden and Switzerland."

The security owners also were directed to make a return to the Bank of England of their holdings within one month.

The financial community interpreted the step as a precautionary measure to an emergency in which the Government would take over such foreign investments for itself. In the World War, the British Government acquired the dollar securities of her nationals in exchange for Treasury notes. These notes yielded 2 per cent, while the United States alone approached the holder to buy war loan securities at par.

California Adopts Plan Of Sinclair for Jobless

Persons on Relief to Be Organized in Groups off 450 for Production—Payments in Cash or Goods.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 28 (AP).—A program of State-financed production-for-use, conceived to "help the unemployed help themselves," has been ordered in California.

The theory that was favored by Upton Sinclair in his unsuccessful fight for the Governorship in 1934 is to be placed in operation now by Gov. Culbert L. Olson, who took office the first of this year.

The program was drafted by a Citizens' Committee appointed by the Democratic Governor in an effort to devise a workable scheme to take relief recipients off the dole.

It proposed that the State create co-operatives to produce goods and sell them to persons on relief. "Direct production" projects will supplement the self-help organizations.

Co-operative Unit's Task.

As outlined by the committee in a report released yesterday, a single co-operative unit must be able to produce and distribute everything in the average relief budget that can be "economically produced" on the basis of consumer demand of 5000 relief cases. Co-operative units will be organized at once.

In each unit an estimated 450 persons—removed from relief ranks—and 50 others will comprise "working members," drawing cash payment in kind for their services.

The committee decided that in

DIES SEEKS U. S. ACTION AGAINST KUHN, PELLEY

Orders Counsel to See if They Can Be Prosecuted
Under Foreign Agent
Registration Law.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP).—Chairman Dies (Dem.), Texas, directed counsel for the House Committee on Un-American Activities today to determine whether leaders of the German-American Bund and of the Silver Shirts can be prosecuted under the law requiring registration of foreign agents.

Dies asserted that Fritz Kuhn, Bund leader, had said before the committee that one of the Bund's purposes was to bring the American public to the same viewpoint as Kuhn's regarding Nazi Germany.

William Dudley Pelley, head of the Silver Shirts, Dies contended, prints Nazi propaganda in his publications.

Classifying both as "foreign propagandists," the chairman instructed Rhea Whitley, committee counsel, to take up the matter with the Justice Department.

"Some positive, affirmative action should be taken," Dies declared.

Fund Diversion Charged.

Ruben B. Barker, an investigator for the committee, accused Pelley in testimony today of "diverting" some of the assets of a stockholders' publishing house, the Galahad Press, to "his own personal uses."

He said creditors and preferred stockholders lost between $35,000 and $40,000 in the firm's affairs.

The Galahad Press, which Barker described as a religious publishing house, was operated at various times from New York, Washington and Asheville. It was declared bankrupt in North Carolina in 1934, the witness asserted.

Barker, saying his testimony was based on a search of bank accounts and court records, declared that Pelley diverted $100,000 of assets.

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Foresees Day of Reckoning.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
BARAK MATTINGLY, chairman of the Republican State Committee, should be commended for opening the eyes of the taxpayers of Missouri to the wholesale squandering of the WPA funds on high-salaried executives.

Until recently, I was a WPA worker, a widow with four children. I came under the 18-month dismissal rule and was among the first to go. I am 48 years old, and probably will be unable to secure another position in private industry.

Will the people of St. Louis allow politicians to retain their high-salaried positions while those for whom the jobs were created are fired? When the next election rolls around, the WPA workers have been so cruelly treated will attend to the members of Congress who were too busy to attend to them.

MARGARET CLARK.

Busses, Not Street Cars.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
AGAIN we see the Public Service Co. grasping at a straw by promising to replace a noiseless, streamlined street car with the Public Service Co. is slow to embrace new models and new ideas in transportation, but eventually it will be compelled to bow to the inevitable and recognize the supremacy of the pneumatic tire.

Flight of Bankrupt Reynolds County.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
REYNOLDS COUNTY, in Southeastern Missouri, is without a mile of either concrete or asphalt road. As a resident of this bankrupt county, I am acutely aware of what this means.

The resources of the county for agriculture are limited. Crop production is small, orchards soon play out on the stony soil, dairying and mining have been tried but with little success. The county's chief salable product is its scenery, exploitation of which is impossible because of poor roads.

Although the county has innumerable springs, clear streams and beautiful hills and bottoms, which make ideal camping spots, vacationers choose places that are easily accessible and pass us up.

Ours is the only county in the State without any hard-finished road. We ask that Highway 21 be black topped from where it leaves Highway 49 at Glover, to where it joins Highway 60, near Van Buren. This would open up a new and one of the most beautiful scenic routes in the State. It would meet with the heartfelt support of a county which is known as the poorest in Missouri, one whose people have tried hard to make a living.

America's Decided Advantage.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE germ of American neutrality must be contagious, even at a great distance. A Hungarian political leader, Tibor Eckhardt, has declared that it is the "unmistakable determination" of his country to remain neutral in any struggle between Poland and Germany.

If Hungary can be neutral in crisis-torn Europe, then why cannot the United States strive still harder to remain so? We have the decided advantage of a distant location, and are not with any concern with the fate of either Germany or Poland in another rearrangement of territory.

DONALD DATES.

Would Regain Japan's Friendship.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE Hitler-Stalin agreement has been said to isolate Japan. If this be so, now is our opportunity to regain the friendship of Nippon which our actively hostile attitude has been alienating. This does not mean an alliance, for she is asking only to be let alone.

Ultimately we shall have to recognize her right to play the stellar role in Asia just as we do in the Western Hemisphere. Recognition of that fact now will be a master stroke of diplomacy and indicate to the world that we are no longer tyros in the field of diplomacy.

It is axiomatic that peace on the Pacific must be maintained by the United States and Japan or it will not be maintained at all. Now is our chance to guarantee that peace indefinitely.

Cross-Town Bus Line Still Needed.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
RECENTLY, it was suggested that the Chinese bus, which now ends at Watson and Southwest, be extended north to Baden. That will not solve the problem of cross-town transportation. What is needed is a line from Gravois to Baden. I have signed many petitions for a north-and-south bus on Hampton in the last 10 years, but they get no results.

For St. Louis Jobs for St. Louisans.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
MANY St. Louis workers are deprived of jobs in our city factories by people who come from the rural districts. This is especially true in tobacco factories and factories that make shoes, shirts and overalls.

In justice, I think St. Louis firms should discourage this practice. City workers who seek jobs in the rural districts usually find six-month residence requirement there. City employers should give preference to workers who have lived here and contributed to the support of the city by their taxes.

DEBATING ON THE BRINK.

In the midst of frenzied military and economic preparations to wage war, the world today sees almost equally frenzied diplomatic efforts to avert war. While debate continues, there remains hope, however slender at the moment, that conflict can be averted.

On the face of present dispatches, it is significant that the overtures for negotiations come from the axis Powers; that the firm stand, previously a monopoly of Berlin and Rome, now is being taken by London, Paris and Warsaw.

Britain reaffirms its support of Poland. France does not recede from its previous determination. Warsaw hastens preparations and remains calm.

It is from Berlin that word comes of willingness to mediate, with "some friend like Premier Mussolini of Italy" as the umpire. Rome follows through obligingly with assertions of its readiness to lend his good offices to a peaceful solution. The nomination, to be sure, is preposterous. It is as if Jesse James in his prime had offered to talk things over with the Sheriff if Brother Frank sat in to dispense justice. But the very fact that possible negotiations are the subject of debate at the opening of another tense week must be written down as at least a momentarily favorable sign.

Adolf Hitler has taken time out from the hurly-burly to write a seven-page letter to Premier Daladier of France—a letter remarkable in that it contributes little to the crisis negotiations themselves, but is devoted almost entirely toward seeking to justify the Nazi claims on Poland and the Nazi threat of war.

It is a message persuasive in tone, certainly an unusual departure for Hitler from the threatening, insistent, defiant utterances which have served his purpose in previous moments of crisis. He does not bluster to Daladier; he states his case in reasoned form, and virtually begs France to keep hands off in his settlement of this "injustice." When the full story of the August, 1939, crisis can be told, it may be an item of vast significance that Hitler drew from his drive toward war, first, to call in the British and French Ambassadors and offer to negotiate, and second, to justify his course in detail to Daladier.

Perhaps it is doubt and uncertainty on Hitler's part, as some commentators think, that brings this interlude of discussion. But surely, with Russia removed from the reckoning, Hitler today has less reason for doubt than in the Czech crisis of last fall. Nevertheless, the determination now shown by London and Paris, so sadly lacking last fall, must have its influence on the Fuehrer.

Hitler doubtless hopes to win another bloodless victory by means of the negotiations he has now initiated. It is likely, too, that he is looking to the future and its assessment of war guilt.

The Versailles Treaty's indictment of Germany as the instigator of the World War has rested heavily upon the German people. Hitler, in his rise to power, stressed that issue almost equally with the nation's economic and territorial losses. So today, with another great conflict on the horizon, he finds time to consider the verdict of posterity. Before the White Books and the Blue Books begin to pour from the nations' presses, he issues, in the letter to Daladier, a document purporting to show, as the Kaiser tried to do in 1914, that the sword is being forced into Germany's hands, that "I shall be leading my people in a fight to rectify a wrong, whereas the others will be fighting to preserve that wrong."

Head of a regime that rose to power by propaganda and is bolstered by propaganda, the Fuehrer has composed a skillful piece of special pleading in the effort to gain another victory on suzerainty and, if that fails, to make aggression against a neighbor appear a crusade for justice.

THEY DIDN'T REMEMBER THE ALAMO.

It was in San Antonio, Tex., that 172 determined pioneers died to a man a century ago for the cause of freedom when 5000 Mexican soldiers besieged them in the Alamo. It was at San Antonio's Municipal Auditorium, not far from the sacred Alamo, that a crowd of 5000 Texans on last Friday denied the right of free speech to an assembly of 100 Communists led by a woman. The crowd, battling 200 policemen and 100 firemen, finally succeeded in driving the handful of Communists from the auditorium.

Mayor Maury Maverick, a dyed-in-the-wool Texan, who was decorated for gallantry under fire in France, had said that he had no sympathy whatever for Communism, disagreed with its philosophy and practices, but loved democracy and the liberties of the Constitution. Shortly before the meeting, he declared he would do all in his power to guarantee free speech and public assembly rights. He kept his promise. As a result, his effigy was hanged to a lamp post.

The people of the Lone Star State still hold strongly to the old pioneer tradition. Proud and independent, they greatly resent the invasion of pernicious foreign doctrines. But they should have thought twice in this instance. Maury Maverick certainly is no Communist. It is in such places as Soviet Russia and Nazi Germany that free speech is suppressed—not in this land where men not so many years ago spilled their blood for liberty. Had free speech been allowed these Communists, the meeting would have passed unnoticed. Now the 100 Communists can set themselves up as martyrs and ask what is the meaning of our Bill of Rights.

A BLOW AT CRAFT AND BOSSISM.

If the Police Board carries through on the anti-bookie drive it launched Saturday, municipal politics in St. Louis will rise to a higher level. A large-scale gambling racket cannot exist without protection, and the means by which it purchases protection corrupts the whole fabric of government.

On the day Tom Pendergast was sentenced to prison, Attorney-General Murphy made this statement: "A serious job must be done in the municipal governments to separate vice and corruption and eliminate bossism. The day has come when America ought to shed these overlords—public servants who have become owners of great gambling concessions."

Officeholders in St. Louis, so far as we know, are not the owners of gambling concessions, but we have more than our share of backstage bosses who flourish on the tribute of vice and gambling. When four Circuit Judges owe their places on the bench largely to gambling racketeers like Bev Brown and Gully Owen, things are in a nauseating state. It is an intolerable situation when Gully Owen can lean back and say, as he has been quoted as saying, "Take Judge So-and-So. He's incompetent, and we backed him and he got there largely with our support. He oughtn't to be there."

This illegal and rapacious business, with its influence in corrupting government, must be driven out of St. Louis for good. There is no shadow of excuse for its toleration. If it is so allied with the ruling political machine that it enjoys comparative immunity with the offices which the machine controls, we still have a Police Department independent of local politics.

The Police Board, and behind the Police Board Gov. Stark himself, must stand firm on the order that the bookies are out. It is to them the city is looking for the divorcement of politics and corruption.

A STRANGE REPORT FROM THE WHITE HOUSE.

Missouri will be deeply shocked but not greatly influenced by reports that President Roosevelt has committed himself to back Senator Truman for reelection next year.

With President Roosevelt or without President Roosevelt, Senator Truman is doomed. So resolute is the will of the people of Missouri to root out Pendergastism that there is no conceivable political combination which could help him much.

The story from Washington states that President Roosevelt sees in Senator Truman an innocent victim of Pendergastism, "a courageous, public-spirited official, who has been accidentally involved in Pendergast's downfall." If the President takes this view, he is being incredibly naive.

Senator Truman was part and parcel of the Pendergast machine in Kansas City for 20 years. Every schoolboy in Missouri knew of the alliance between crime and politics in Jackson County, and every schoolboy knows, too, that if Harry Truman had not been the subservient tool of that combination he would never have been County Judge.

Nobody is in better position than President Roosevelt to know of the feverish activity in which Senator Truman engaged in an effort to halt the prosecution of Boss Pendergast after District Attorney Milligan and the Intelligence Unit of the Treasury Department had completed their investigations.

Mr. Truman went to questionable lengths to block the conviction of the Boss' election thieves, even charging on the Senate floor that they were the unfortunate objects of a conspiracy between the prosecuting and judicial branches of the Department of Justice.

Nor is the Senator unsmirched by the misuse of public funds in Kansas City. In the next campaign, he will be asked to explain the loan by the Jackson County Court to his mother of $35,000. When the Pendergast scandal exploded, this loan was in trouble, both as to principal and interest. Such loans are usually made through commercial banks. Senator Truman has yet to give a satisfactory explanation of why a different procedure was followed in this case.

If current reports are confirmed by events and President Roosevelt does support Senator Truman, it will be because the Senator has been an undeviating and indiscriminating supporter of the Roosevelt policies in Congress. If the President will give the matter a second thought, he will realize there are certain indispensable qualities which the people of Missouri want in their Senator beyond the convenient pliability of a presidential rubber stamp.

THOSE ONCE PROUD ARABS.

The Rev. Gerould R. Goldner, who was kidnapped and held a week by a band of Arabs, has had his revenge. He disclosed on his return to the United States the other day that he had taught his captors, who previously had known only the rigorous delights of straight draw poker, how to vary the game by the effete and unmanly methods of making deuces wild and dealing seven-card stud.

Poker players of the old school may quarrel among themselves on the propriety of drawing to an inside straight and on the finer points of bluffing, but they will agree to a man that the Rev. Mr. Goldner has treated the Arabs much more cruelly than they treated him.

Draw poker and five-card stud are games that require the mathematical wizardry of an Einstein, the histrionic ability of a Barrymore and the Spartan calm of the boy who saved the dike. Its ill-begotten variations, such as seven-card stud and deuces wild, on the other hand, are demons that scoff at man's skill, weaken his moral fiber and complete his transformation from pioneer to a product of the hothouse.

Now that these degenerate pastimes have been introduced among the Arabs, the handwriting is on the wall. The kidnappers who held the American pastor may be a pretty tough bunch now, but before long they'll be dining on pastry shells and getting weekly manicures.

The good ship Amazon reports a lion loose aboard, and it's not an amiable old British lion, either.

THE ARMS-EMBARGO FALLACY.

North Dakota's Republican Senator, Gerald Nye, like Missouri's Democratic Senator, Bennett Clark, feels Congress did an admirable piece of work in tying the President's hands in the matter of our foreign policy. The administration professes a determination to keep the country out of war, says Mr. Nye, but if free to act it would almost certainly plunge us into war.

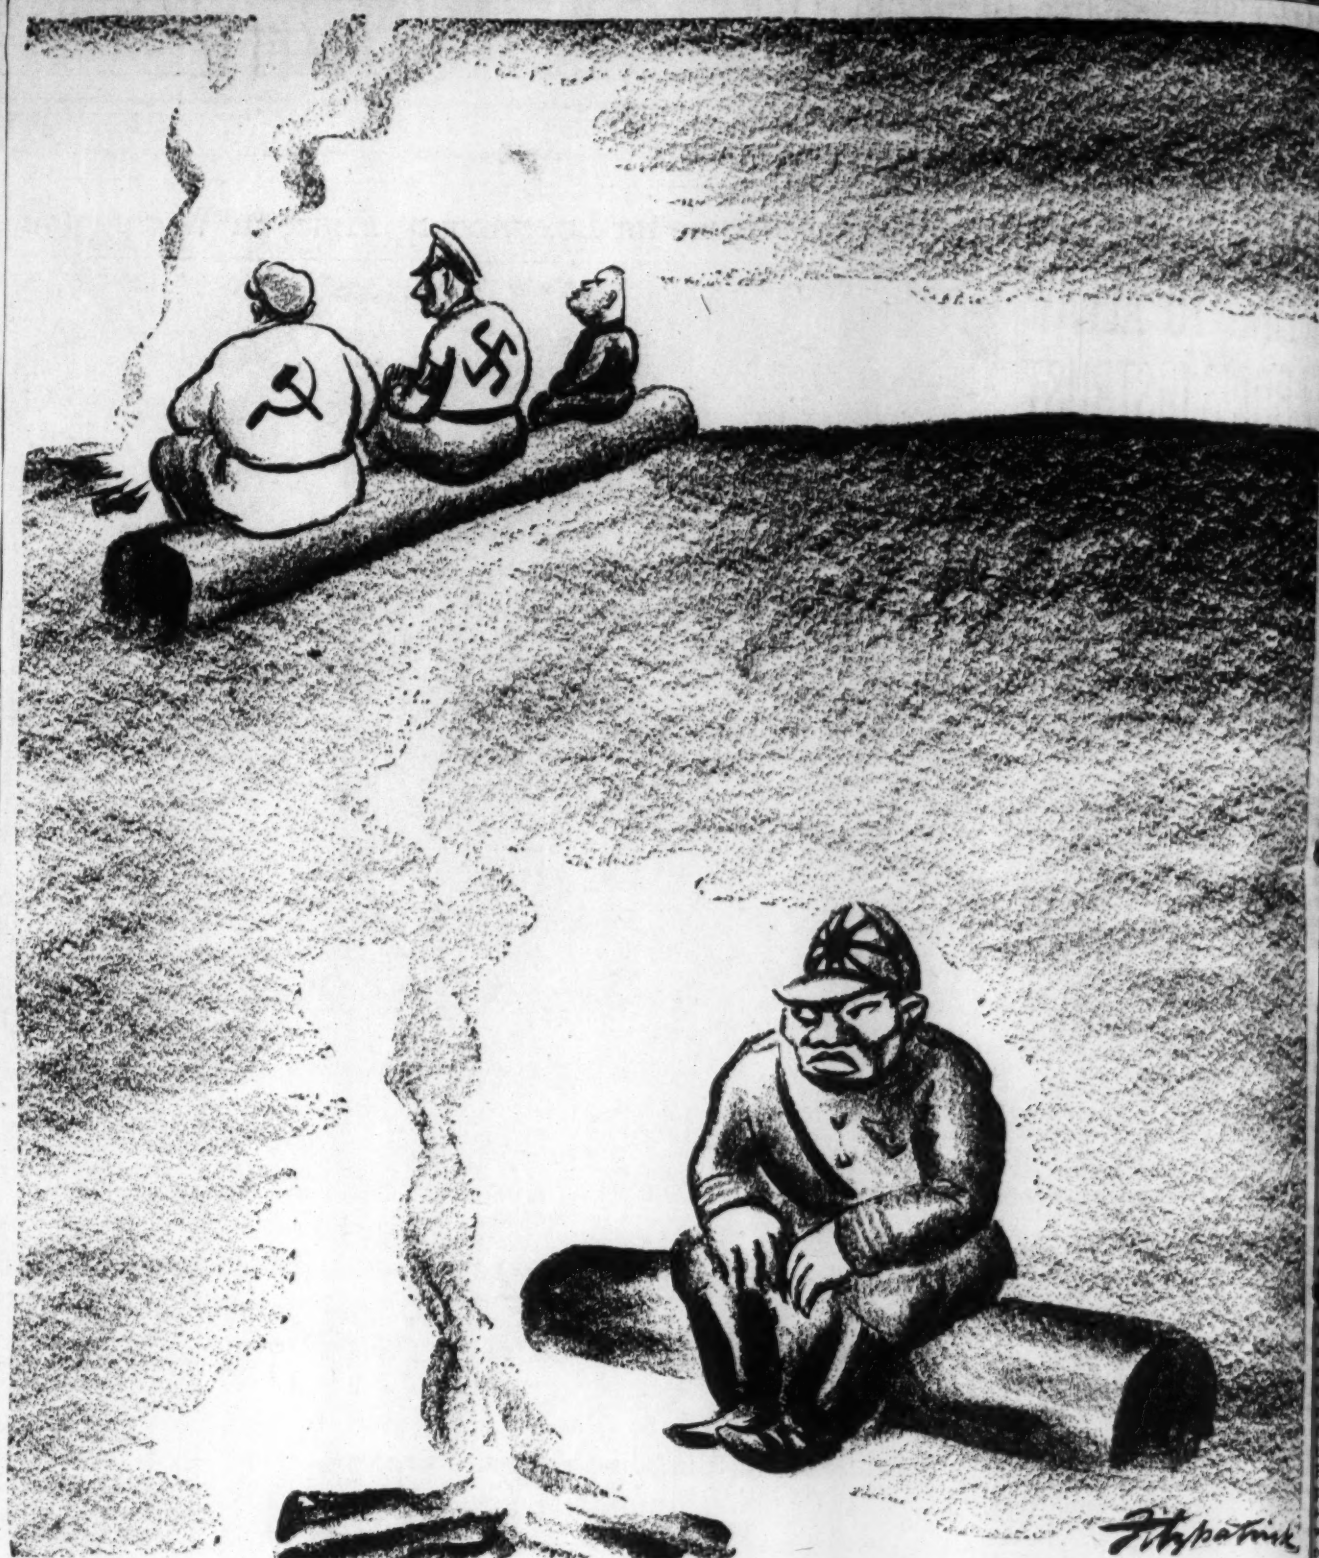

Mr. Nye goes on with the familiar explanation. The removal of the embargo on the sale of arms and munitions, as the President desires, would favor the nations in command of the sea—at this time England and France. That statement is correct. But is it not equally and obviously true that, in refusing to sell arms to nations that can come here and pay for them and carry them away, we are favoring the nations—at this time Germany and Italy—that cannot come here?

Further, if it is a breach of neutrality to sell arms to customers who can come here and buy and pay for them, is it not exactly the same breach of neutrality to refuse to do business with those nations, thereby giving aid and comfort to the nations that can't come here?

Viewed realistically, it is a question of which group of nations we should prefer to favor in a European war—England and France, or Germany and Italy? The democracies or the dictators?

Viewed historically and legally, President Roosevelt's position in advising the removal of the embargo on the sale of arms is strictly in accord with international law. The corollary is inescapable. Our embargoists—Nye, Clark and the rest of them—have rewritten international law to maintain their fallacious theory of neutrality.

Somebody has started a boom for Mayor Dickmann for Governor. What? No third term?

WHAT A PAL WAS ADOLF!

A G. O. P. Prescription

The Mirror
Public Opinion

If next administration is to live within means, it must be willing to be unpopular with pressure groups, says House member; would modify Wagner and Exchange Acts but keep main body of New Deal; country needs President with "courage and a tough hide."

Bruce Barton, Republican Congressman from New York City, in Collier's Weekly.

SUPPOSE a Republican President is elected. What will the new administration do? My belief is that a Republican administration, if it is to do you any permanent good, must completely reverse the traditional pattern of our political history. Almost universally the rule has been that an administration is most popular in its first months, the so-called "honeymoon" period, and proceeds to grow increasingly unpopular until it is turned out by accumulated resentment and the desire for change. The Republican administration of 1941 ought to make itself increasingly unpopular in the first 18 months.

Without going into detail, let us list a few of the unpleasant truths it ought to tell, and the unpopular actions it ought to take: The next administration ought to move courageously to repeal deterrent and indirect taxes, and to broaden the income tax base and lower the exemption, as many students of national economy have suggested. This will make many millions conscious of the cost of government, and it will temporarily, at least, make them resentful.

The farm program is subject to all the criticisms that were leveled at Mr. Hoover's little half-billion-dollar Farm Board; only in the present instance the cost of failure totals many billions. There are more farmers than the nation needs. The most efficient should be allowed to raise food as economically as possible and sell it to the people in the cities at the lowest price consistent with a reasonable profit. The less successful producers on marginal lands should be helped to find their way into reforestation, flood control, or any one of a dozen activities that would contribute to the national welfare.

Specifically, the cotton situation is getting steadily worse. Foreign markets had begun to shrink even before the New Deal; but New Deal policies of pegging prices above the world levels have vastly accelerated their destruction. Brazil has been helped to establish herself in the cotton business and can raise first-class cotton profitably at 4 or 5 cents a pound. The cotton-raising business is a declining business. Many cotton farmers must find their way into other occupations.

Pressure groups of all sorts will have to be told that until we get the country back on a sound footing all expenditures must be scrutinized with microscopic care. The idea that throwing money around lavishly increases "purchasing power" and is therefore economically defensible will have to be tossed out the window. All sorts and conditions of people will protest.

Many people will not like the refusals of the next administration, and their number will not be confined to the ranks of farmers, organized workers or the WPA. Some of the business men, whose orders will fall off temporarily, will be just as insistent that spending be restarted.

The restrictions of the SEC will have to be lessened in some respects if capital is to flow freely into productive enterprise. When the President makes this move, he will be accused of selling out to Wall Street.

The Wagner Labor Relations Act needs to be modified both in text and administration. If this is not done before the end of Mr. Roosevelt's term, it will have to be done by his successor.

"WHERE ALL IS PERFECT."

In Utopia, where all is perfect, the people hang every statesman who begins talking about "our might" and "our glorious destiny."

Who Owns the Newspapers?

From the Illinois State Register.

MOE ANNENBERG, publisher of the Philadelphia Inquirer, is under indictment on a most serious charge. After a grand jury investigation, he has been indicted on a charge of failure to pay taxes on his income, which is tantamount to placing his burden upon others, who pay lawful taxes and which is also equivalent to robbing the Government to which he claims he owes allegiance.

Of course, indictment is not proof of guilt, so judgment must be withheld until Mr. Annenberg is acquitted or convicted. Tremendous interest is focused upon this case because Annenberg is publisher of a great newspaper and because he is charged with evading more income taxes than any man in our nation's history.

It is a matter of record that a masterful chicanery in the Federal court stated that the principle upon which Moe Annenberg was charged with evading his income tax was derived from a "disreputable and unconscionable business."

The entire journalistic world and the people generally will analyze this case closely as it develops because it involves the question of newspaper ownership. It is going to prompt people to look back of the newspaper they read to consider its ownership.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, in discussing this subject, says that Annenberg has presumed to buy into the newspaper publishing business in the United States on a large scale, on the theory that the American public is not interested in the source of the capital which controls the organs of information and public opinion. The Post-Dispatch questions that assumption and says:

"We think the public is interested in the type of ownership back of the newspapers. The poor showing that the Philadelphia Inquirer has made despite the millions which Annenberg has poured into the property indicates that the people of Philadelphia and Pennsylvania are concerned. Let the Federal prosecutions take what course they will, Moe Annenberg has no business in the field of newspaper publishing."

The State Register is among the newspapers of America which have stressed this principle time and again. Suppose, for instance, that a man of the Annenberg type bought into the newspaper field on a large scale and controlled a great section of the press. Could that possibly be for the public good? Is there not a serious problem here presented which should draw the attention of the public to the ownership and control of every great newspaper in America?

Moe Annenberg may have unconsciously rendered a public service, after all, if the subject is sifted and its deep-rooted fundamental principle properly applied.

IT'S THE LAW!

THESE United States have some very funny laws. The laws cited here are all valid, and all who violate them are technically liable to imprisonment.

In Ohio all cats going out on the street at night must have a red light on their tails. In Boston it is forbidden to play the violin and to have dogs more than a foot high. In South Carolina it is forbidden to go to church with a revolver in your pocket.

In Virginia baths in rooms are banned. People must bathe only in the yards of their houses.

THE ACME OF SELF-SUFFICIENCY.

Recently the Nazis have added fish, eggs and milk to the long list of things for which they have found a substitute. About all they need now is a substitute for an appetite.

SMALL LOSS INDICATE FOR MUNICIPAL OPERA

Surplus From Prior Season Expected to Take Care of Season's Deficit.

Preliminary figures indicate Municipal Opera finished twenty-first season with a surplus, the sixth in its history. The manager, said today, would probably not be necessary to call on guarantors to meet the deficit, which would be charged against surplus.

An audit of the association's books will be completed in about six weeks. If it should prove necessary to call on the guarantors to meet the loss, it would be the time that happened. On the previous occasions, guarantors repaid with surplus funds later.

The twenty-first season closed last night with the final performance of "Victoria and Her Hussars," which was seen by 7784 persons.

Attendance for the season totaled 686,045 for 83 performances. The season's receipts were $1,000,000, the largest attendance total was 73,000, a drop of 10 per cent.

Threats of Rain. Poor weather prospects hindered attendance all season, Beiss said. There were only 32 performances of fair weather in 87 days. Although 54 nights were threatened with rain, the season often was discouraged by rain. Last summer only 10 performances were canceled because of rain.

"Rose Marie," the opening show, drew 83,000 persons in 10 performances. "On Your Toes" concluded the first half of the season. "Firefly" broke all attendance records, 63,383.

Rudolf Friml's "Firefly" set a record for a new all-time attendance record until rain canceled one performance. But three successive evenings, beginning with the Friday night performance, "Firefly" broke all attendance records for the Municipal Opera. The Friday performance attracted 10,631 persons and additional thousands watched from the rear at the amphitheater. The following night attendance rose to 10,800, a new record.

Rain Cancels 3 Performances. Rain canceled one performance, "Babette," "Song of the Flame" and "Victoria and Her Hussars." Attendance for each production including 1700 persons who saw the free seats nightly, was as follows:

"Rose Marie" (10 performances), 63,383; "On Your Toes" (63,383); "Firefly" (six performances), 62,383; "Babette" (62,383); "Katinka" (58,383); "Lost Waltz" (56,313); "Queen of Hearts" (51,383); "Waltz Dream" (51,383); "The Flame" (six performances), 48,383; "Victoria and Her Hussars" (six performances), 48,383; "Bartered Bride" (48,383); "The Little" (six performances), 46,747.

All Grand Opera Season to Open Oct. 14.

The fall season of the St. Louis Grand Opera Association will open Oct. 14 at the Municipal Opera House, with Verdi's "Aida." Productions will be "La Boheme," "Pagliacci" and "Aida." "The Barber of Seville" will be "The Barber of Seville." "The Barber of Seville" will be "The Barber of Seville."

Chorus tryouts will begin tomorrow at 7 p. m. at the Municipal Auditorium under the supervision of Ernest Lert, stage director. Rehearsals will be held Thursday.

The management is seeking guarantors to fund enough to cover any deficit that might occur for both the fall season and 1940 spring season. Guarantors for the 1939 spring season got but 8 per cent of the $25,000 provided.

MRS. ROOSEVELT TO SPEAK AT DEDICATION OF ARCADE

Ceremony in Structure at Gravois to Be Held Sept. 21.

Special to the Post-Dispatch:
CARBONDALE, Ill., Aug. 27.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will be the speaker at the dedication ceremonies of the recently dedicated Illinois National Guard Armory here on Sept. 21, according to Dill, chairman of the Committee of the Carbona-men Men's Association, who is sponsoring the dedication. The structure, costing $200,000, is a reinforced concrete building nearly 200 feet long, 120 by 90 by 40 feet. It will be used as a recreation drill hall. Surrounding the building are barracks, Guard officers' quarters, storage rooms and a rifle range in the basement under one side.

Mrs. Roosevelt will speak at the dedication of the armory, which is a landmark in the community.

DR. E. M. SASVILLE DIES

Collinsville Physician Succumbs to Heart Disease. Dr. Ernest M. Sasville of Collinsville, died of a heart ailment yesterday in his sleep while attending a church outing at a camp near Waterloo, Ill. He was 65 years old.

Dr. Sasville, a native of Illinois, was a graduate of North University Medical School. His wife, Mrs. Warner Schroeder, 66, survives.

SMALL LOSS INDICATED FOR MUNICIPAL OPERA

Amplius From Prior Summers Expected to Take Care of Season's Deficit.

Preliminary figures indicate the Municipal Opera finished its twenty-first season with a small deficit, the sixth in its history. Paul Schuman, manager, said today it would probably not be necessary to ask guarantors to meet the deficit, which would be charged against surplus.

An audit of the association's books will be completed in about two weeks. If it should prove necessary to call on the guarantors to meet the loss, it would be the third time that happened. On the two previous occasions, guarantors were paid with surplus funds later.

The twenty-first season closed last night with the final performance of "Victoria and Her Hussar," which was seen by 7784 persons.

Attendance for the season totaled 686,045 for 83 performances. Four shows were canceled by rain; the attendance total was 78,086 less than last season, a drop of 10 per cent.

Threats of Rain.

Poor weather prospects hindered attendance all season, Beisman said. There were only 32 predictions of fair weather in 87 days. Although 54 nights were clear, threatening skies in the late afternoon often discouraged prospective patrons. Last summer only two performances were canceled because of rain.

"Rose Marie," the opening show, drew 83,000 persons in 10 performances. "On Your Toes," which included the first half of the season, drew the largest seven-night attendance, 63,383.

"Buddie Fling's" "Firefly" seemed headed for a new all-time weekly attendance record until rain canceled one performance. But in three successive evenings, beginning with the Friday night performance, "Firefly" broke all attendance records for the Forest Park theater. The Friday night performance attracted 10,631 persons and additional thousands who watched from the rear of the top box of the amphitheater. The following night attendance rose to 10,749 and the next night a new record of 10,800 was set.

Rain Cancels 3 Performances.

Rain canceled one performance of "Pabette," "Song of the Flame" and "Victoria and Her Hussar." Attendance for each production, including 1700 persons who sat in the free seats nightly, was as follows:

"Rose Marie" (10 performances), 63,383; "On Your Toes," 63,383; "Firefly" (six performances), 62,534; "Buddie Fling's" "Firefly," 61,283; "Katie," 58,627; "Last Waltz," 56,313; "Queen High," 57,171; "Waltz Dream," 51,630; "Song of the Flame" (six performances), 49,119; "Victoria and Her Hussar" (six performances), 49,584; "The Battered Bride," 48,898; and "Babes" (six performances), 46,747.

Grand Opera Season to Open Oct. 14.

The fall season of the St. Louis Grand Opera Association will open Oct. 14 at the Municipal Opera House, with Verdi's "Aida." Other productions will be "La Boheme," "The Barber of Seville," "The Merry Widow," "The Ball," Nov. 14, and "Siegfried," Nov. 20.

Chorus tryouts will begin tomorrow at 1 p. m. in Assembly Hall No. 2 at Municipal Auditorium, under the supervision of Laszlo Szekes, musical director, and Dr. Ernest M. Saville, stage director. First chorus rehearsals will be held Thursday.

The management is seeking a guarantee fund large enough to cover any deficit that might accrue both the fall season and the 1939 spring season. Guarantors for the 1939 spring season got back all but 8 per cent of the $25,000 they provided.

Mrs. Roosevelt to Speak at Dedication of Armory

Ceremony in Structure at Carbondale to Be Held Sept. 21.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CARBONDALE, Ill., Aug. 28.—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will be the speaker at the dedication ceremonies of the recently completed Illinois National Guard Armory here on Sept. 21, according to I. W. Dill, chairman of the Program Committee of the Carbondale Business Men's Association, which is sponsoring the dedication.

The structure, costing about $200,000, is a reinforced concrete building nearly 200 feet long and 136 feet wide with a central auditorium 120-by-90-by-40 feet which will be used as a recreation center and drill hall. Surrounding the auditorium are lockers, National Guard armory, storage rooms, gages and a rifle range in the basement under one side.

Mrs. Roosevelt will speak on the subject of the relationship of the individual to the community.

College Survey Shows Students Oppose Government Assistance

Dean Ackerman Says Part-time Work Is Favored Over Federal Aid, Loans and Scholarships in Financing Studies.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Students are opposed to Government aid in financing their education, it is indicated by a survey of 15 universities reported to Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, by Dean Carl W. Ackerman of the Columbia Graduate School of Journalism. Part-time work is favored over Government assistance, loans and scholarships.

"The real significance of present student opinion toward the financing of education is the opposition to Government aid," Dean Ackerman said. "Students do not favor spending-lending policy to help them make their way in the world."

"Only 7.4 per cent of the students interviewed considered aid by the Federal or State governments as desirable. This, I think, may be interpreted as a vote of confidence in the continuation of the student-aid policies of educational institutions."

"Those who have been charging that some of the leading universities in the United States have become centers of Socialistic and Communistic theories of government and economics should study the statistics assembled in this survey. University students today are not applying the prevailing debt-theory of political economy in their own lives nor are they looking forward to the Government to provide them with jobs."

The survey was directed by Prof. Elmo Roper and included a cross section of economic groups among freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors in the following institutions: Harvard, Brown, Syracuse, Columbia, Tulane, Alabama, Vanderbilt, Minnesota, Northwestern, Iowa, Oklahoma, Michigan State, Ohio State, California and Washington.

The largest group, 42.5 per cent, prefers part-time employment as "the best way for capable or needy students now in colleges or in universities to get financial assistance." The second major group, 32.3 per cent, favors scholarships. Only 14.5 per cent consider university or private loans desirable. The smallest group, 7.4 per cent, would be receptive to Federal or State aid.

There is only a slight variation of opinion between the freshmen and senior years.

Geographically, there is a variation in student opinion. In the Middle West 16.8 per cent of the respondents favor loans; in the East the percentage is 10.1. In the Middle West and the West the sentiment in favor of part-time work is 46 and 50.9, respectively, compared with 36.4 in the East and 37.9 in the South.

There is also a difference of opinion between students in the West and in the Middle West and toward Government aid, the percentage being as follows: East, 4.9; South, 6.4; Middle West, 7.6; and West, 13.

The students were also asked if there were any of the four types of financial assistance—Federal and State Government aid, private and university part-time employment, privately owned and university scholarships and private and university loans—which they thought they should not receive.

NATIONAL INCOME UP 3 PCT. IN 7 MONTHS

Total for Period Estimated at $37,985,000,000—Dividends and Interest Drop.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28 (AP).—Income received by American employees for the first seven months of the year increased 5 per cent over the corresponding 1938 period, the Commerce Department reported today, but the investors' income declined.

The nation's total income from all sources for the seven months was $37,985,000,000, a gain of 3 per cent over the same period last year. President Roosevelt often has mentioned an $80,000,000,000 national income for a full year as a goal.

The Commerce Department's figures included direct relief payments and social security benefits of $990,000,000 as well as wages, salaries, dividends, interest, rents, royalties and the amounts owners withdraw from their businesses.

Except for social security and direct relief payments, the totals in each category for 1939 were lower than those for 1938 but higher than 1933.

Employees' compensation, including work relief wages, amounted to $25,250,000,000 in the first seven months of this year against $24,040,000,000 for the same period last year.

Dividends and interest in the 1939 period came to $4,762,000,000, compared with $4,514,000,000 for the first seven months of 1938. Business withdrawals, rents and royalties totaled $6,983,000,000 in seven months of 1939 and $7,073,000,000 in the same period last year.

After allowance for seasonal influences, the Commerce Department's index of total income for July was unchanged from June—83.5, based on 1929 as 100.

A slight rise in industrial and agricultural income was offset by sharp drops in relief and benefit payments. The index of employees' compensation dropped from 84.8 in June to 84.6 in July, reflecting a drop of $18,000,000 in work relief wages.

PASTOR DIES SUDDENLY WHEN ON VISIT TO SON

The Rev. R. E. Alexander of Christian Church Succumbs at Stroud, Ok.

The Rev. Ralph E. Alexander, pastor of the Memorial Boulevard Christian Church, died suddenly yesterday at Stroud, Ok., where he was visiting a son, the Rev. William Alexander, pastor of a Christian church in Stroud. He was 61 years old.

Cause of death was not immediately determined. Dr. Alexander had been in ill health since January, 1937, when he suffered a heart injury in an automobile accident in St. Louis.

A graduate of Transylvania University in Louisville, Ky., where he studied for the ministry, Dr. Alexander was ordained in St. Louis at the old Second Christian Church. He became pastor of the church in 1914 and continued as pastor when it joined with the Kingshighway Christian Church to become Memorial Boulevard Christian Church. It is at Kingshighway and Labadie avenue.

Surviving, besides his son, are his wife, Mrs. Clara M. Alexander, with whom he resided at 4320 Labadie avenue, another son, Glenn E. Alexander, and a daughter, Mrs. Nadine Kruse. The body has been returned to St. Louis and is at Leiden undertaking establishment, 2223 St. Louis avenue. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

PARIS CHURCHES CROWDED BY ANXIOUS WORSHIPERS

Scores of New Bouquets Placed on Tomb of France's Unknown Soldier

PARIS, Aug. 28 (AP).—The churches of Paris on the first Sunday after a week of anxiety were not jammed, for men have been mobilized and their womenfolk with the children and old men have gone to the provinces by the thousand, but the crowds were extraordinary in size and in character.

At the Cathedral of Notre Dame de Paris, headed by Victor Hugo and hundreds of writers as well as by history itself, several thousand attended the various morning masses and a few tourists walked about the great Gothic aisles. At the tomb of France's unknown soldier under the Arch of Triumph lay scores of new bouquets of flowers—some elaborate, some little more than three or four blooms.

Hundreds of worshipers, including a score of men in army uniform, knelt in prayer at Saint Germain L'Auxerrois, opposite the Louvre museum, where scores were killed during the war when a shell from the great German gun "Big Bertha" crashed through the roof at the mass hour. The church, finely executed Gothic bell tower, from which the tocsin was sounded for the massacre of Saint Bartholomew's day in 1572, now is topped by an ominous sign of the times, an eight-horned air-raid siren.

ATTACHING OF GASEN'S ASSETS BARRED IN SALES TAX DISPUTE

Circuit Judge Says State Auditor's Request for Letters Is Unreasonable

An application by the State Auditor's office for authority to attach assets of Gasen's Dr. Chalmers, Inc. in an effort to collect $21,000 alleged to be due in delinquent sales taxes, was denied by Circuit Judge Robert L. Aronson after a hearing today. The drug firm was not represented in court. Judge Aronson rejected the Auditor's request as arbitrary and unreasonable.

W. G. Marbury, attorney for Auditor Forrest Smith, said he would confer with Attorney General Roy McKeltrick on whether to file a mandamus suit against Judge Aronson in Supreme Court.

The application for the attachment writ was the first instance of the trying of this method in collection of sales taxes. The Auditor's contention is that letters should be collected by attachment is implied in the sales tax law.

TENNESSEE PLANTS REOPENED

Figures Lacking on Number Quitting Copper Smelter Strike

COPPERHILL, Tenn., Aug. 28 (AP).—The Tennessee Copper Co. reopened its plants today in the face of a strike, but there were no authoritative figures as to the percentage of the 1400 employees who returned to their jobs.

Sheriff Broughton Biggs, heading a squad of special deputies, said "everything is quiet and peaceful." Biggs reported a "large number of men" returned to work at the company's main plant, which closed here July 14 when the Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (CIO) called the strike. Plants at Ducktown and Isabella also opened.

RED CROSS AID TO VETERANS

60,000 Ex-soldiers and Relatives Helped Here, Officer Says

About 60,000 war veterans and members of veterans' families have been aided by the St. Louis Chapter of the American Red Cross since establishment of the chapter in 1917. P. H. Byrns, executive secretary, said yesterday in a radio talk.

The service, Byrns said, had gone far beyond assistance in filing claims for Government compensation. The Red Cross has been called on to obtain medical aid for veterans' families, to give advice in financial matters and many other home problems, he said.

DIES SEEKS U. S. ACTION AGAINST KUHN, PELLEY

to his own uses and to the "foundation for Christian economics."

"And this diversion brought about the insolvency of the Galahad Press and loss to stockholders," Chairman Dies (Dem.), Tex., as asked.

"Yes, sir," the witness replied.

Barker replied negatively when Rhea Whitley, committee counsel, asked whether Pelley was ever prosecuted for diversion.

Barker went on to tell that Pelley was convicted in Asheville on charges of selling securities without having registered as a dealer and also of advertising the stock of Galahad Press when it was insolvent.

Barker said Pelley was fined $5000 and assessed $1719.50 in costs as a result of conviction. A five-year penitentiary sentence was suspended, the witness testified.

Pelley called, but is absent. Before Barker began his testimony, Dies asked in a loud voice: "Is Mr. William Dudley Pelley in the room?"

There was no answer.

"Every effort has been made to find him," Dies added. "Every opportunity has been given him to come here and confront the evidence against him."

Then Barker was asked to tell what he had found in a search which he said had taken him to Windsor, Ontario; Detroit, Boston, New York City, Washington, Asheville, Del Rio, Tex., and Villa Acuna, Mexico.

Dies said he wanted the record to show that Pelley was operating on a nationwide basis. "Here we have no small-time fellow," the chairman declared.

Among the Pelley publications, Barker said, are a weekly magazine, "Liberation," and numerous booklets—on the Dies Committee itself (10 cents), Secretary of Interior Ickes, Secretary of Labor Perkins, J. Edgar Hoover, President Roosevelt and the Jews.

Pelley Denied Writ Against Inquiry by Dies Committee.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 28 (AP).—United States District Judge E. Yates Webb denied today a request by William Dudley Pelley that the Dies committee be restrained from investigating the personal activities of Pelley and the Silver Shirts, an organization he founded.

Webb told attorneys for Pelley that he rejected their motion because their client had, otherwise, "an adequate remedy at law."

MOVEMENT IN SAN ANTONIO TO RECALL MAYOR MAYERICK

Leader Is Former Prosecutor; Proposes Public Hearing on Whether Permit Was Granted

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Aug. 28 (AP).—Alexander Boynton, former County District Attorney, filed a recall movement today against Mayor Maury Mayerick, who granted permission for a Communist meeting that resulted in a riot last Friday night.

Mayerick, former Congressman, said: "I have no comment to make except that I suggest that all substantial citizens of the city be questioned on how they feel about mob violence."

A crowd estimated at 5000 broke up the meeting of 100 Communists in the Municipal auditorium. Boynton said the recall group will try to "run Maury Mayerick and his Red disciples out of the shadow of our sacred Alamo, cradle of Texas liberty."

Sheriff Broughton Biggs, heading a squad of special deputies, said "everything is quiet and peaceful." Biggs reported a "large number of men" returned to work at the company's main plant, which closed here July 14 when the Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (CIO) called the strike. ## HUNGARY PUTS DOWN NAZI DEMONSTRATION

Budapest Police Break Up "Victory March" Over Non-Aggression Pact.

BUDAPEST, Aug. 28 (AP).—Police with drawn sabers crushed a Nazi demonstration in the heart of Budapest yesterday. Scores were hurt in sporadic street fighting.

The Nazi sympathizers attempted to carry out a victory march, celebrating the signing of the German-Russian non-aggression pact, with-out a police permit.

When the crowd gathered before Nazi headquarters, police closed in from neighboring Mussolini Square and dispersed them.

Sixty-six persons were arrested. Several other demonstrations occurred in various parts of the capital. Illegal pamphlets were distributed by youths clad in Nazi uniforms or green shirts.

BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT AGAINST ILLINOIS AUDITOR

Miss Camille Martinetti, Chicago, Asks for $250,000 Damages From Edward J. Barrett, State Auditor, Who Sued for $250,000 Damages in a Breach of Promise Action Filed in Superior Court Today in Behalf of Miss Camille Martinetti, 30 Years Old, of Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP).—Edward J. Barrett, State Auditor, was sued for $250,000 damages in a breach of promise action filed in Superior Court today in behalf of Miss Camille Martinetti, 30 years old, of Chicago.

The suit alleged Barrett promised to marry her in 1934, but later he changed his mind and married another woman. Miss Martinetti's attorney said that until three months ago, when she was discharged, she had been employed in the Auditor's office at Springfield.

Illinois has a statute outlawing breach-of-promise suits, but Pop said Miss Martinetti's action was brought on the grounds that the alleged offense occurred eight months before the law became effective.

4 BURN TO DEATH; TRAPPED IN AUTO FIRE AFTER UPSURGE

Marcellus, Ill.; Man Hurt Trying Rescue.

MARCELLUS, Ill., Aug. 28 (AP).—Four young persons from Joliet, Ill., were burned to death yesterday when their automobile overturned and burst into flames after it and another car collided on State Route No. 6, three miles east of here.

State Highway Police identified the victims as Dorothy Borgan, 19 years old, Sue Kimak, 17, Michael Grutka, 22, and John Titra Jr., 22. Allen Shelton, 22, of Marcellus, driver of the other machine, suffered serious burns when he attempted to rescue the four from the burning car. He was taken to an Ottawa hospital.

Shelton told police the two cars slid onto the highway, with the car carrying the Joliet group careening to the side of the road and overturning. An explosion followed and the car burst into flames. The four were trapped inside the car.

DOLLAR A DALE PROD. WORLD WHEAT

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP).—Cotton futures declined sharply today as active foreign and Wall Street liquidation disclosed only small support. Trade and Oriental interests bought. A further drop in sterling and the continued nervousness abroad were disturbing factors.

Late afternoon prices were 9 to 16 points down, with October at 8.43 off 16 and July at 7.84 off 9.

Professional selling and Southern liquidation carried prices to their lowest levels in the last 10 minutes of trading. Support came principally from short covering and scale down price fixing orders. Final prices were 20 3/4 lower.

Settlement prices: Oct., 8.53; Dec., 8.37; Jan., 8.21; March, 8.16; May, 8.01; July, 7.86.

The market was easier in mid-morning operations as heavy foreign and Wall street selling continued and prices lost as much as a scale down. Support was limited to a local order and confined to New Orleans and the trade. October was 15 points off at 8.47 and July and December each were 13 lower at 7.80 and 7.80, respectively.

Foreign selling aided somewhat when the Liverpool wheat closed and prices recovered on trade and New Orleans buying but pressure of hedge and Wall Street selling tended to make rallies short lived. The market was quiet in the afternoon and readily responded to selling on the part of the local and foreign buying on set-backs.

Prices around 15 points were holding to losses of 10 to 15 points on the part of the local and foreign

CHICAGO, Aug. 28 (AP).—Although the war scare continued to keep the grain market in turmoil today, sellers assumed leadership much of the season and prices retreated sharply from early gains of 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 cents a bushel.

Just before the close all but 1/4 @ 1 1/4 cents of the early strong advance was wiped out but the market steadied at this level.

Uncertainty regarding the outcome of the crisis in Europe was the most unsettling market factor. Some traders expressed surprise that Government loans on 1930 wheat up to Aug. 23 totaled no more than 37,500,000 bushels.

Sheep steady to 50 cents; butcher earnings steady to 10 cents; wool steady to 10 cents; cowfeed and vealers steady; sausage bulk steady to 25¢ higher; western meat steady to 10¢ higher; steers, $8.33 to 9.15; western steers, $6.35 to 7.65; butchering yearlings, $5.50 to 6.50; hams, $10.00 to 11.00; canners and cutters, $3.50 to 4.50; top vealers $10.25; nominal range slaughter lamb steady to 10¢ higher; 100 lb. yearling steers, $5.75 to 6.75; 100 lb. yearling ewes, $5.75 to 6.75.

Sheep, total receipts 6000; saleable 3500; range and the price of sheep steady; good to choice native spring lambs to all interest, $8.25 to 9.25; good to choice native close to small lambs, $8.75; buck lambs, $1 less; most westerns, $4.50 to 5.50; slaughter ewes, $2 to 3.

EGGS AND POULTRY MARKET

Eggs and poultry prices marked with activity and the price selling prices in wholesale quantities by receivers and dealers, compiled from information received from the Chicago Daily Market and the Chicago Daily Market Reporter." Other prices represent nominal market values, as expressed in the following table, in absence of sufficient volume of sales.

Most wheat offers were withdrawn in Liverpool, and the price of wheat, shipping and insurance rates and no business could be confirmed.

Wheat, up as much as 2 1/4¢ at one stage, but later there was a reaction, and it closed 1 cent lower. Receipts were 100,000 bushels. Local fair to good, totaling 110,000 bushels. Handicappers showed an increased quantity to be sold on the basis of today's price advance.

Grains gained about a cent at times, while rye and barley were 10 cents or more in sympathy with the action of grain.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE, Aug. 28.—
In the cash grain section of the market today wheat was steady to 1¢ higher; corn, 3/4¢ to 1¢ lower; oats, 1/2¢ to 1¢ lower.

Sales made on the floor of the exchange were as follows:

No. 1 red winter 17 7/32¢; No. 2 red winter 17 1/2¢; No. 2 light spring 70¢; No. 4 red spring 82 1/2¢; No. 1 corn—No. 1 yellow 46 1/2¢; No. 2 yellow 44 1/2¢; sample grade yellow 42 1/2¢; No. 1 oats—No. 2 white 34¢; No. 2 mixed 32 1/2¢.

FALLS AND CLOSES OFF

Steels and Motors Temporarily Sell Net Higher on Rebound From General Market Decline of 1 to 4 Points in the Market Leaders.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28 (AP).—Under the leadership of steels and motors, stocks rallied selectively in today's market after an early tumble of one to four points, attributed mainly to a revival of European war tension.

Prices began to improve around midday and, in late dealings, extreme losses were reduced in many instances or converted into modest advances. Most closing quotations, however, were on the offside, leaving giving away here and there at the finish.

With axis and anti-axis military forces poised for what could be the greatest combat since the start of the world debacle in 1914, traders in the forenoon reverted to a pessimistic view of the situation.

Offerings, however, were comparatively light and this, brokers said, tended to bring in a little support.

Transfers for the five hours totaled 669,510 shares.

Some financial quarters were encouraged by the fact the overseas conflict currently was being confined largely to a "war of words." Several professed to see signs the "Fuehrer" was willing to postpone "her tag" and negotiate.

Back to Normal?—Lows. Although stock prices tumbled in the forenoon to within reaching distance of last June's lows, commission houses suggested the small amount of selling accompanying the decline was mainly of a speculative character and the investment portfolios on the whole, were still undisturbed.

Prominent shares in the resistant class were Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Standard Oil of N. J.

Inclined to leave the Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Anacosta, American Can, Eastman Kodak, Philip Morris, J. C. Penney, American Telephone, North American and Goodrich.

Steels were aided by an unexpected official estimate jump in this week's mill operations. The rate was placed at .8 of a point above the preceding week at 63 per cent of capacity, a top mark since Oct. 11, 1937.

Bonds, especially U. S. Government bonds and a number of foreign securities, were heavy. Commodities were mixed.

Retreating in the curb were Aluminum of America, Electric Bond & Share, Gulf Oil, Lockheed and Pittsburgh Plate Glass.

News of the Day. Sterling at London advanced to a new low for the past six years and a bar gold at that center was lifted to a new record peak in terms of the pound.

There were virtually no transactions in American securities on the London exchange in the British Government instituted close restrictions on the sale by nationals of foreign securities. In the financial district, though, this move was viewed as constructive in that it would have an important cushioning effect for the time being.

States in the event hostilities erupt. It was estimated British holdings of American stocks and bonds are in the neighborhood of $1,000,000,000.

Markets at Paris and Amsterdam were erratic.

Over Week End Developments. The Magazine "Steel" said that "reports from several points indicate ingots are going at once to finishing mills, without accumulation of raw steel. In some instances bookings are less than production, but backlog is sufficient to insure a continuation of mill activity at about the present level."

With automobile output turning the corner, the stabilizing effect on steel shipments was stressed. It was believed order for the steel would continue to expand through the fall. In addition, some railway buying was reported, along with a modest demand from farm equipment builders and building construction operators.

In line with the automotive outlook, attention was given the figures of the Department of Commerce disclosing factory sales of cars in the first seven months of 1939, totaling 2,171,256 units against 1,344,786 in the comparable 1938 period.

STEADY; SHARP GAINS

Dealings in American Issues at Virtual Standstill on Official Regulation.

LONDON, Aug. 28 (AP).—The stock market held steady today, with sharp advances registered in tobacco, chemical, rubber and distilling issues also made good gains, while cable and wireless and some drugs lost about a point. British gilt-edged funds closed at the fixed minimums and foreign bonds were unquoted. Dealings in American issues were at a virtual standstill, due to new official regulations governing such trading.

PARIS, Aug. 28 (AP).—Continued rise in the dollar strengthened prices in the Bourse early today, but toward the close there was hesitant feeling and international issues lost part of their earlier gains. Rentes finished 70 centimes lower to 240 higher, and banking shares were down 50 to 150 francs.

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 28 (AP).—Wheat futures closed strong, 2d to 2 1/2 higher. Prices moved upward as shippers withdrew offers for cash wheat.

A further decline in sterling exchange caused a wave of general buying and covering in cotton futures today and prices advanced 7 to 16 points.

Case Records of a PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Of Northwestern University

CASE N-108: Nona Q., aged 17, is a typical wallflower in a wealthy family.

"I wish you'd take charge of Nona," her father said, "and change her into a popular young woman who has many friends and social poise. Money is no object. You make her into a happy, popular girl, and you can write your own bill."

DIAGNOSIS: Nona's father is sincerely concerned over the excessive shyness of his only daughter. But may I warn you readers at the outset that nobody can make you happy. Happiness must come from within and must be earned by diligently practicing those social habits which inevitably will produce this wonderful by-product. You may remember the story of Sir Galahad and the Holy Grail. He couldn't locate this sacred chalice while he deliberately sought it, but as soon as he forgot his quest and performed some unselfish actions, behold, the Holy Grail appeared.

Too many people today want their doctors to cure them. Except in a few cases of radical surgery where we remove an inflamed appendix or a young cancer, your physician doesn't cure you. He simply co-operates with nature, so that your body will cure itself. A psychologist cannot deliver happiness to Nona in a bottle or a pill box. All we can do is outline a course of mental and social exercises which must then be diligently followed. She is the only person who can make Nona happy and popular.

I pointed out to Nona that blushing and her excessive timidity mean that she is self-conscious. In order to avoid such embarrassment, we must forget self. This demands that we become unselfish or selfless; that we focus our attention on our companions and their problems.

IT IS AN axiom of psychology that we cannot actively think about two ideas at the same time. If, therefore, we concentrate on our associates, we simply cannot mean while be self-conscious. In order to give her a practical prescription by which she could more easily extrovert her attention to her environment and thereby take it off herself, I simply enrolled her in the Compliment Club.

She paid three honest compliments every day to three different people around her. But in order to compliment an individual sincerely, we must first become social detectives, ferreting out the good points in our companions. This automatically forces us to observe our social environment and thus forget ourselves.

Tight-rope walkers cannot maintain their balance if they watch their feet, for when we focus attention upon self, we lose perspective. Watch them in the circus or on the vaudeville circuit and you'll see that they look at some distant object, usually straight ahead and in the wing of the theater.

Take a lesson from the tight-rope walker if you would be happy. Focus on an outside object if you wish social perspective. Religion is one of the best stabilizing forces in life, so I ordered Nona to teach a class of younger girls.

Then I taught her the formula for being an interesting conversationalist until she could employ it backwards or forwards. In six months she was so tactful and gay that her family could hardly believe she was Nona.

Happy Endings By Elsie Robinson

FOR years, Old World critics have smiled at our childish insistence... pointing out that "Happy Endings" were neither good art nor honest reality. But have we been ashamed by their comments? Any thing but! To the contrary, we believe this trait is just further proof of "superior intelligence and wholesome American taste."

ELSIE ROBINSON.

"Wot'sa use of going out to be amused," we've asked indignantly, "if we come home all worked up 'n' blue?"

But life has no happy endings. . . .

No perfect solutions. . . . No finished plots. Life never does what you think it should do, nor end as you think it should end. And if you can't take a weepy windup on the screen, stage or printed page, you're certainly going to be out of luck in marriage, business, politics and social relationships!

WHAT'S THE matter with America today?

That's what is the matter. We've been looking for happy endings. . . . and because we couldn't find them, we've gotten mad and refused to play!

Study the relationships between husbands and wives, parents and children, bosses and workers, law enforcement officers and criminals and Government and taxpayers.

Each relationship is "a plot" in itself. . . . a story which we think should have a happy ending. Somehow, someday—we say to ourselves—we'll surely find the one perfect way to deal with this situation. But that day and that way never come. There's always something lacking, something wrong.

So what? So we fly into passion. . . . decide that everything's a mess. . . . that there's no use trying. In short, we kick the whole problem over, like an angry youngster kicks his pile of blocks. . . . all because we've been trying to find "a happy ending" which can never come.

And the same idiotic attitude prevails in our own inner personal problems. We want our own endings to be 100 per cent happy and satisfactory. And if they aren't—we smash our dreams and refuse to play.

There are no "happy endings" in real life. There are no endings at all. Nothing is ever finished. There is always another chapter. Be mature enough to face that fact. . . . brave enough to accept its challenge. . . . and get going!

Table Rule

By Emily Post

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me whether, when feed coffee served at a lunch party has no plate under it, the spoon should be laid on the table or left in the glass.

Answer: The spoon is left in the glass—or if you have finished stirring with it, lay it on the edge of the plate in front of you and let it be taken away with the plate.

Dear Mrs. Post: At a wedding reception this afternoon, I was standing out in the hall when the bride went upstairs to dress. The bridesmaids all gathered next to me and the bride threw her bouquet straight at me. In fact, it hit me on the chest. I did not mean to catch it, but having it in my arms, I didn't know what to do with it, and so I kept it. In a way I was pleased, but now I wonder if I should have handed it to a bridesmaid?

Answer: If you had run forward to catch the bouquet, that would have been a very wrong thing to do. But since the bouquet came straight at you and hit you without your even reaching for it, I think you had better take it as a happy omen and not worry about it. To have handed it to a bridesmaid wouldn't have meant anything. And even to have given it back to the bride to throw again, because it had not been meant for you, would have lost all its meaning. If you are married, then, of course, the answer is different. Its hitting you would not count, and the bride should have thrown it again.

Dear Mrs. Post: Must we have the same number of ushers as bridesmaids at our wedding?

Answer: There is no rule about how many attendants either the bride or groom shall have; no rule even that the number of men and maidens shall match. If the wedding is to be in a small church with only one aisle, let us say, and four ushers are all that are needed, that would be all right. Two extra men—friends of either the bride or the groom—could be asked to go to whatever parties are given and sit at the bridal table.

Prevention of Diphtheria by Immunization

Disease Affects Children—Most Cases Occur Between Ages of 2 and 10.

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

EVERY year, as the time for entering school approaches, it becomes the duty and the privilege of this column to advise of the common contagious diseases of childhood, and to give its most conscientious advice to parents concerning immunization and protection against them.

This year we are particularly proud to do so because, in spite of the fact that we (lamentably, perhaps, in the eyes of dictators) are free from regimentation, the incidence of preventable diseases in this country is lower than it ever was. This is due not to orders from above, but from voluntary and intelligent co-operation among the whole population, and we are proud to contrast this record with that of a modern scientific totalitarian state.

The comparison centers on diphtheria. In 1935, in the Democracy of the United States, there were 473 deaths from diphtheria. In Germany there was 149,429 deaths from diphtheria.

The check on comparative incidence is even more instructive. In 1935 the United States had 861 deaths from diphtheria, while Germany had 77,340. In the six years of Hitler's regime the death rate from diphtheria has increased 100 per cent; in the United States in the same period it has decreased 100 per cent.

According to German language papers, the increase in Germany is due to: (1) unhygienic crowding of young people in youth movement camps, designed to show how impervious to disease Germans naturally are; (2) scanty public distribution of medicine and means of disease prevention; (3) exile of doctors, Jewish and non-Jewish.

How has North America (while I have not the exact statistics from Canada, I know that its record is essentially the same as the United States) been able to reduce its diphtheria mortality almost to the vanishing point? In 1935, 24 American cities had not a single death from diphtheria.

It is a long story—a story of the deliberate application of intelligence and perseverance to a human situation—but essentially it comes down to this:

Diphtheria affects children; most cases occur from the ages of 2 to 10.

It is a "neighborly disease"; it occurs where there is crowding and mingling of children from different households—i. e., school.

It can be prevented by individual immunization. Quarantine, tried for decades, had no effect. Successful treatment by antitoxin reduced the death rate from 74 ratio to 15. But this was not prevention and at 15 the death rate stuck until the introduction of toxoid.

This is given hypodermically—one or two doses—to a child or a year old, and will produce immunity in six weeks. It is recommended that this be repeated at school age. This immunity lasts a lifetime. Parents of children entering school for the first time this fall are urged to have their children vaccinated with this toxoid.

COLLECTOR of DANCE RECORDS

George Gugerty's 2500 Discs Represent History of Popular Music Since 1914, the Year He Began His Hobby.

By Clarissa Start

"PLATTERBUG," according to a recent magazine article, is the title given to that present day limelight character, the phonograph record collector. The platterbug may be someone of note—Charles Schwab and the Duke of Windsor are among them—or he may be the newsboy on the corner. He may collect the classics or Bing Crosby, opera or hillbilly music, Trinidad calypso or comic dialogues.

But with the elevation, during the past few years, of dance bands to star instead of supporting positions in the entertainment world, the largest portion of platterbugs collect discs commemorating popular music. Industrious St. Louis platterbug is George Gugerty, possessor of 2500 records which form practically a history of dance music since its 1914 infancy, and whose signatures, for almost 500 are autographed, could be taken for a roster of famous names in the profession.

"My interest in the collection," he says, "began when I was a boy who is a combination collector and jazz enthusiast to be violent in personality. Gugerty is quite mild, and stresses the fact that he is not a victim of collector-mania but a collector with a purpose, which is different.

"I have been in the collection business since I was a boy. I have a collection of records, the men who made the records," the soft spoken Gugerty says. "I've known many of the old time musicians personally. I took trumpet lessons from Bix Beiderbecke when he played with Frankie Trumbauer at the Arcadia back in the 20s. I have only to tell my connections and mention a few magic names, and musicians I want to meet will see me.

"Most collectors are kids in school who will collect records for a few years and then give it up. But I've been doing this for 25 years; it's been my life, you might say. I know every note on every record I have, and the records that are autographed have been those I wanted signed because I appreciated musically something on that record, not just to get a name on a record. The musicians have only to tell my connections and mention a few magic names, and musicians I want to meet will see me.

GEORGE GUGERTY—HE'S BEEN A "PLATTERBUG" FOR THE LAST 25 YEARS.

"I may have that record here," Gugerty said, reaching into his record bag. "You mean this one?" And he brought out a copy of "San" made more than 10 years ago by a crew known as Abe Lyman's Sixes and Sevens.

Naturally Gugerty isn't confused by musicians as just another autograph hound.

The collection itself is enough to inspire awe, even if it were entirely purposeless. Going through the stacks of records in the sun-room of the Gugerty apartment hotel, the reporter saw stacks of records bearing such readily recognized signatures as Kay Kyser, Jan Garber, Paul Whiteman, Vincent Lopez, Guy Lombardo, Wayne King, Little Jack Little, Henry Busse, Clyde Lucas, almost any popular commercial big name you can think of.

In addition there are records of current day top band leaders, records of Goodman and Dorsey signed before they were ever heard of, except among musicians, records of Red Nichols, of Bob Crosby who is Gugerty's personal favorite because the Crosby band is composed entirely of native South-ern boys steeped in Dixieland traditions, a record of "Some Day, Sweetheart," which Jack Teagarden considers his best record and which he signed while seriously ill in a Chicago hospital, an "all star" record of "Rockin' Chair" made by a band composed of Goodman, Dorsey, Krupa, Teagarden, and the finest band to represent St. Louis, for it was here that they got their start.

"Recording was in its infancy when these were made," he apologized as he lovingly placed one of their records on the machine and trained his softest needle on it. "It's not fair to compare them to present day recorders but this is early swing, and to hear them in person, they were marvelous. They were too good, in fact. There were too many good men—men like Frank Papale, Dan Russo and Ted Fio-Rita in the band—that it broke up because of dissension."

There is a record of "St. Louis Blues" signed by W. C. Handy, the first recording of Ted Lewis made of "When My Baby Smiles at Me," a record of "Rhapsody in Blue" signed by George Gershwin and reminiscent of that lucky afternoon when Gugerty visited Gershwin at the hotel where he was stopping here and had Gershwin say, "By the way, I was just going to run through this number. Would you like to stay and listen to me practice?"

Records like those are irreplaceable as are those with labels no longer in existence, the Okeh, old Brunswick and Victor, for which collectors scour attics and old record cabinets. A record of a tune called "Golden Leaf Strut" played by the New Orleans Rhythm Kings, a tune known for the past decade or so by the newer title, "Milenburg Joys," records of the "Arcadia Peacock Orchestra of St. Louis," led by Jack Ford, early Coon-Sanders records, two records signed by Beiderbecke, one record of "Old Man River," one of the few on which Bix played piano as well as trumpet.

Most of these rarities were collected at the time of their issuance, just as Gugerty continues to collect, to contact visiting band leaders, to trail musicians to other cities, and pack his bag with records when he goes on a business trip.

With such a collection, Gugerty can scarcely be censured if he occasionally tears his hair and beats his chest when friends say casually, "By the way, we're throwing a party tonight. How about lending us some of your records?"

WORLD'S FAIR authorities in both San Francisco and New York emerged jubilant from meetings held during the last few days with J. Bascomb Abercrombie, Attendance Consultant, who has made drastic proposals which, it is believed, will soon have turnstiles humming.

"There is no longer any need for pessimism concerning attendance," said Mr. Abercrombie. "I am sure that my plan will do the trick. In brief, I have suggested that the old, old county fair and carnival technique for amusing the public is basically sound. Throwing baseballs at the Artful Dodger was a favorite American sport for 100 years. All we need to do is dress up this idea and give it class. Therefore, I propose that the Fine Arts exhibitions be utilized. Cut the heads out of some of the fine canvases, and call upon prominent citizens to volunteer to stick their heads through the holes and let the public throw baseballs, three for a nickel. For example, it would be a fine gesture if Mussolini, Hitler and some Japanese Generals would consent to pose on Anti-Axis day, and then, to even things up, let Chamberlain and a Frenchman targets on 'Give Us Living Space day.' The scheme could go on indefinitely. The Vice-President could take over on John L. Lewis day, while Mr. Lewis could dodge baseballs on Texas day. The possibilities are infinite."

And Aunt Bella says she "aches every joint" if she has to pay the check.

And treaties couldn't have caused more misunderstandings if they had all been written by Gertrude Stein.

And this is the time of year the June bride is likely to discover that the first hundred years are the hardest.

'The Working Mother Should Be Praised'

Nobody Should Be Denied Right to Job Because of Sex."

By Angelo Patri

WOMEN, being people, have many of the instincts, gifts and abilities that men have, among them the desire, the spiritual need to work for their living outside of the home. Some women do not have this need; others feel it keenly and the career of motherhood does not lessen it.

The financial needs of today have made many mothers continue in their outside work. Many husbands are working on reduced pay, others are out of work. The children are to be provided for, and under the circumstances the mother, who has work or who can find it, does the best she can with her two jobs. Necessity knows no law.

What I would point out here is that this necessity is not only a material one, active only in times of financial stress, but a spiritual one, urgent in good times and bad. To some women their chosen work is as vital as their need of home and children. To deprive them of it would be the height of cruelty; it would be the denial of their soul's great need.

Work is man's highest privilege. It is not to be denied any man or woman. It is not something to be granted by any one's favor, but a human need to be recognized by a concerned, lawmakers, employers and workers alike.

As I see it nobody should be denied his right to work because of sex, social position, race, color or creed. It is wrong to dismiss a good worker because there is some one in great financial need, and that principle into the social fabric, and you have a snarled result that helps nobody and injures every body. Nobody should be deprived of work because of marriage, motherhood or bachelorhood. Who is to judge? Depriving people of work because of the color of their skin or the symbol on the church they attend is too stupid for words. All this notion of making a person work depend upon anything but his ability to perform it is stupid, and the sooner it is forgotten the better.

I am especially interested in the cause of working mothers. Mothers as a rule do not neglect their children. They are usually found leaning far to the other side. They sacrifice themselves for the family. When a mother goes out to work to earn money to give the children a better home, a better education, better start than they could have otherwise, they ought to be cheered, not stoned.

Marriage has two partners. The two work together to establish a home and rear a family. If the mother stays in the house she works as hard and often much harder than her husband does in his outside job. She scrubs, paints, cooks, washes, irons, mends, nurses, shows, manages, from daylight to dark and between times carries and delivers the children. Measure that she works alongside the one in office or at the studio. Then be quite candid about saving the man a woman ought to live the sheltered, secluded, protected life of the home. And yet quite honest and say, along with that after all, we know little about the matter because it is every woman's own business.

That's the situation. Each woman, every mother, should be allowed to make her own decision, without unjust criticism. They have enough to bear without that.

A VERY PRACTICAL CINDERELLA

Mary Healy, Hollywood's Latest Discovery, Has Not Allowed Sudden Success to Turn Her Head

By H. H. Niemeyer.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 28.

PERT and piquant Mary Healy became a cinematic but practical Cinderella against her own wishes and best judgment and almost threw the golden slipper right at Hollywood's collective head before she became used to it.

For Mary, over whom Twentieth Century-Fox executives are doing verbal nip-ups right now and for whom they're planning bigger and better things in the immediate future, was completely contented with her job as a stenographer when her particular Prince Charming came along—a talent scout with a contract in his pocket.

Mary was secretary to E. V. Landeiche, manager of the Twentieth Century-Fox film exchange in New Orleans, where she was born, when the talent scout came along. At night she was singing with Bob Cole's orchestra at the Roosevelt Hotel there. She had taken a swing through the Southwest with another orchestra before settling down in her secretarial job, and she hadn't, she admits, particularly enjoyed the experience away from home.

Thus, there was reason for Mary's contentment. For a girl in her teens, she was doing very well. The two jobs, singing and secretarial, gave her an income of better than $50 a week, which she justifiably felt was pretty good for one of her years. The job as secretary to the exchange manager was interesting and seemed to promise well for the future.

The job of singing was something like a lark for the ambitious beauty. She had always liked to sing. She had done it in a choir. She had sung in the St. Mary's High School girls' glee club and she liked to sing over the radio.

Also, Mary remembered her experience back in 1933. She had just been graduated from high school and had got a job as a stenographer in the office of a general contractor in New Orleans. Somewhat—but not too much—against her will, she found herself entered in a beauty contest for the title of "Miss New Orleans." The prize was a trip to the Pacific Coast, to San Diego, where a word's fair was in progress, and to Hollywood, where the movies, as you may have heard, held forth.

The youngster won in a walk. With all the fanfare reserved for such occasions, she was put aboard a train and sent off to her reward. At San Diego, she was given a cordial reception and Hollywood, too, made her welcome in a big way. Here she was dined and wined, taken through various studios and shown about in a manner befitting a beauty queen. A number of celebrities, captivated by her fresh charm, were particularly kind. Gail Patrick, for one, took the little visitor under her wing and was hostess at a luncheon and later a dinner for Miss Healy.

But what Mary saw of Hollywood on that occasion, she admitted, didn't particularly impress her. The people were kind and the stars almost as glamorous as pictured, she confides, but life seemed to be too hectic and intense. There was too much scurrying and too much excitement.

"Of course," Mary said, "I was probably in no position to judge at that time. After all I was supposed to be a prize winner and they were all trying to show me a good time. Maybe the dazzle was a little too much for me."

"At any rate, when the subject of my remaining here and getting into the movies came up once or twice, I dismissed it. I had good job home. Mother and the rest of the family were there. I had lots of friends there and I may have been homesick as well."

"Anyway, I thought that Hollywood didn't need me and I didn't need Hollywood. And I went back home without a single quiver. It didn't take long for him to set the record straight. In spite of Landeiche's objections that he didn't want to lose his secretary, he approached Mary and asked her if she wouldn't like to come to Hollywood. Mary says that she was neither flustered nor thrilled by the proposition. She took it home with her and laid it before her family—her mother, two brothers and a sister. They were no more excited than was Miss Healy.

"You have a job," her mother told her.

TOMORROW'S HOROSCOPE

By Wynn

Tuesday, Aug. 29.

FROM now till Friday, keep your eye on the tendency to form judgments without sufficient evidence—make it your policy to hold back, investigate a little more. Today: Avoid conflicts with those in authority; improve relations with women.

Too Much Concentration.

Listen in on these radio quiz programs and note that some people come to the mike with imposing titles, or at least with fairly good jobs, and then break down on the simplest questions. The other evealche to make him welcome. But when he brushed by her desk she didn't as much as look up, she said.

"I had promised Mr. Landeiche when he offered me the job as his secretary to get all nonsense about Hollywood out of my head," she explained. "His old secretary had been with him for 15 years and he didn't want to have to train another one. I had no intention of breaking my word to him, in the first place, and in the second, if Hollywood doesn't take to you, you'll simply have to come back and start all over again. Why this business of looking for a couple of birds in the bush when I had one in my hand never did appeal to me."

But Mary, it seems, reckoned without destiny. That same evening, she cleaned off her desk, covered her typewriter and was ready to set off for dinner at home when she got a phone call from a friend, one Tommy Thompson. It seems that Tommy's girl friend had fallen ill at the last moment and he had his heart set on going to some sort of a function at the Roosevelt Hotel that evening. Would she like to go with him?

Mary pointed out that she would have to sing with the hotel orchestra until 9 and couldn't join him at the party until about 9:30 but that seemed to be all right with Tommy. So after her singing chore, Mary found Tommy waiting and they joined the festivities.

Just about that time, too, the Twentieth Century-Fox talent scout wandered in with Mary's boss to cast an expert eye over the belles and boys at the gathering. He didn't take long for him to set the record straight. In spite of Landeiche's objections that he didn't want to lose his secretary, he approached Mary and asked her if she wouldn't like to come to Hollywood. "You have a job," her mother told her.

Treacher and Preston Foster carried the major roles. In this, at the conclusion of an entertainment program put on by the prisoners, our heroine approached the Warden and said:

"Thank you, Warden, it was a pleasure."

As the year was drawing to a close, Mary began to have misgivings.

"It looked to me like I was on a treadmill," she explained. "I seemed to be getting nowhere rapidly, just vegetating and wasting time. I decided that I had enough. The life I was leading was too strenuous for the results I was getting. In short, I was going home."

"But my friends thought otherwise. When I told them of my decision, they wouldn't hear of it. They told me I was showing the white feather. They said I had really not given myself a long enough trial in the movies. They said my friends back home would look down their noses at me because I was a failure in Hollywood. "Because they were so insistent, I finally agreed to remain until my contract expired in three months. If, by the end of that time, I was no further along, I was determined to leave, no matter what anyone thought."

They arrived here on Feb. 18, 1936. Mary was given a test and the next thing she knew they handed her a contract for a year. The test was eminently satisfactory.

Then began a long period of training. Mary was being put through the Hollywood mill. There were vocal lessons and dramatic tutings. There was instruction in French and Spanish, riding and tennis and swimming. There were long hours of steady rehearsal for parts destined to be played without benefit of camera or sound track. There were endless voice lessons and coaching.

Mary's mother, after seeing her daughter started, had left for home. She, too, had a job in New Orleans as an accountant. Mary was more or less on her own. For long months, this routine continued. Occasionally it was varied by an "atmosphere" role in one of the Twentieth Century-Fox pictures. Mary would walk more or less gracefully across the set in the background or she would sit at a cocktail bar with scores of others. Sometimes she would even dance but she learned that dancing in the movies was quite different from the ordinary dancing. When you danced on the set, your feet made no noise and though you appeared to be speaking, only your lips moved. Otherwise the noise and the babel would drown out the dialogue of the principals, an offense unforgivable in movietown if you know how principals are.

Her biggest role throughout all of 1936 was a seven-word speech in "Up the River," a boisterous prison comedy in which Arthur of a test he'd seen of little Mary Healy. He ordered it run off again, to refresh his memory. In the projection room also were Berlin and Lanfield and a half dozen other studio executives, for a $2,000,000 production—publicity department figure—was at stake.

"There," said Zanuck, as the test film ended, "is our girl."

"I think we have something there," added Lanfield.

"Let's give her one of the songs to sing," suggested Berlin.

They did. Mary sang and it was all over. She got the part then and there.

She gave such a performance as Rudy Vallee's girl friend once the picture got under way that she has now been chosen for even a better and bigger role in "Twenty Thousand Men a Year," which will be started next week. And Mary, a complete unknown just a few months ago, is, for the moment at least, the town's latest sensation. A brown-eyed, brown-haired youngster, Mary celebrated her twenty-first birthday during the filming of "Second Fiddle." That well-shaped head has not been turned by her sudden success. In fact, Mary is still bewildered by the things that have happened to her.

Curried Crabmeat

Two cups hot boiled rice, three tablespoons butter, one tablespoon minced onion, three tablespoons flour, one tablespoon curry powder, one and one-half cups milk, one and one-half cups flaked crabmeat, one tablespoon lemon juice, one teaspoon salt. Cook minced onion in butter for three minutes, then add flour, salt and curry powder and stir until blended. Add milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add crabmeat and lemon juice and when hot serve in the center of a ring of boiled rice.

Ground Beef Goulash

A new treatment of the economical ground beef. Brown one pound of ground beef in a frying pan with a lump of butter. When well browned add one chopped onion, one chopped green pepper, one-half head of cabbage chopped fine and one can tomatoes. Simmer for one hour, stirring frequently. Season with salt, pepper and paprika, and serve garnished with strips of broiled bacon.

This was the very last hand of a 36-hand session, with the score extremely close, the wife being ahead some 200 points and with a very desirable prize at stake. "The atmosphere was tense. The husbands were East-West and the wives North-South. "East, dealer. "Both sides vulnerable. ♠ 107 ♠ AK92 ♠ Q10 ♠ 10864

NORTH EAST SOUTH ♠ KQ543 ♠ J32 ♠ K832 ♠ 1076543 ♠ 1764 ♠ KQ

"East opened the bidding with a club. North-South bid spades and hearts, finally arriving at four hearts. At this point the writer, sitting West, pondered long and hard whether to pass and accept a nice vulnerable penalty, or double and have the opponents run to four spades, which he was quite sure they could make. It seemed the best strategy to pass, which I did. To my horror, however, partner then said 'five clubs!' I could have dropped a heavy weight on his head with keen satisfaction, but merely groaned as North briskly doubled. Result, down two, and the women gleefully won the pot of gold.

"My partner claimed the fault was all mine in not doubling four hearts, for then, if my girl had run to four spades, he would have doubled. Now, Mr. Culbertson, what would you have done, sitting West, when the four heart contract came up to you? Perhaps, in fairness to my partner, I should say that I had given him one half hearted raise in clubs at the second round, hoping thereby to get the girls to go on with their bidding of hearts. Now don't you think my strategy in passing four hearts was the best decision?—L. R. Michigan."

No, I regret to say that I do not agree with the "strategy" of passing four hearts. After all, East had opened the bidding and presumably had defensive values. He was marked void of hearts which, in turn, strongly indicated length in spades, a situation which, if the fact that East had not bid diamonds. Surely, if he had a diamond club two-suit, he would have mentioned the higher ranking minor suit at some stage. Thus, there should have been no doubt in West's mind as to East's ability to handle the spade suit if and when the opponents chose to run from a four heart double. It is true that occasions arise in which the opportunity to double seems just "too good to be true," and when discretion, in the form of a "pass," is by far the best strategy. This, however, was not one of those occasions.

I notice with mixed feelings my correspondent's admission that he had given "one half hearted raise in clubs." As to East's ability to handle the spade suit? Is it a raise given in a faltering, scarcely audible tone of voice? Tut, tut, my dear sir! Mind your ethics!

CHAPTER 20

MARIAN spread the crisp Vienna roll with butter. "I found Frau Radovic just on the wing poised to fly off. She told me some tragic things. She's a good soul. She left some money with me to take care of some of her friends until some kind of relief is organized. Otherwise she would leave them starving."

Gisela sighed deeply. "Poor Vienna. Poor people. I was reckless to give you all I had to take out—though if I had kept any I might have lost it. We were down to our last meal ourselves. It was a very grim sensation."

Marian thought, this cannot be true, I will wake up in a minute, not people like us, I am dreaming. She said faintly—"but Franz, what is he doing?"

"Dispensing at the hospital—by great good fortune. The laboratory is closed to him."

"Dispensing!" She knew little about it except that dispensers made up prescriptions. "Isn't that rather a comedown?"

"In one way, yes. In another, by no means. We are eating and paying our way. When you consider Franz is theoretically degraded by his connection with the professor, it is a wonderful privilege." It was new to hear Gisela's voice edged with such irony.

"We had Leopoldine to thank for that. I've never like the girl, though I don't know why. Perhaps because Josef didn't like her. But she was quick with her friendship when she saw we needed it."

It stung Marian to think that Leopoldine could give Franz such im-

SYNOPSIS:

An American girl and her Viennese sweetheart, Franz Gruenwald, in a cafe in Vienna hear a radio announcement of Hitler's entry into Austria. The girl, Marian Taylor, has been staying in Franz's home, studying voice. Franz fears for his foster father, Prof. Josef von Plavsky, author of a recent anti-Nazi book. He refuses to flee the country and leave his wife, Gisela, and son Johann who has the mind of a child. Leopoldine, a pro-Nazi woman, in love with Franz, warns him to send the American girl home. Her brother Karl, a Storm Trooper, von Plavsky is taken off to jail to die from shock. In order to take Gisela's money out of the country to deliver to her friend, Emil Wiedermann in Riga, Marian invests it in rare stamps. Her purpose, the stamp merchant, guesses her purpose, and her Johann to come to Riga. He takes her to call on Mme. Lonska, who insists that Marian stay with her. Marian realizes that Mme. Lonska is a spy and that she thinks Marian also is one and that the picture from Herr Speyer was a message in code. Marian returns to Vienna.

portant help, though reason told her she had no cause for jealousy. "It was good of her," she managed to say generously.

"One brother is a hero because he was implicated in the conspiracy to murder Dollfus. He is now out of prison. Another is a Storm Trooper. The family has influence."

Her voice was bitter and her eyes were very bright. Marian was silent, aware of what she must be feeling. Presently Gisela pushed her chair forward from the table, got up and deftly began to move the things. "I do my own work now because money is too tight to employ a servant. Not that I would have discharged Eda for that reason. But I found her going through the letters in my bureau. If you had left a note for me with Franz telling me about the stamps she would have informed about it. The city is poisonous with informers."

"Gisela! Is this civilized old world Vienna?"

"No. It's Nazi Vienna. O, I don't mean that the people have changed. But it's full of strangers. Also every city has its scum and now the scum has come to the top. Old feuds are virulent with life and the bitter are revenging themselves on the successful. Nobody knows where to go for justice. Any one who wants to see an enemy ruined need only anonymously denounce him."

THE doorbell rang and Gisela hurried away to answer it. Marian heard the rattling of the safe crack then drew it back and opened it. She returned, a woman friend following her into the room. Marian knew the woman, the wife of a manufacturer of fine Viennese chocolates and candy. Her husband had been a lifelong friend of her professors. She nodded to Marian briefly and took no further notice of her. "Now we know at last why they took August and kept him a week in prison. We heard this morning. I had to come up and tell you because it was so funny."

"Funny?" inquired Gisela, bewildered.

"Very funny. They are taking over the factory and putting in a commissioner because they say August is not sufficiently respectable to control one of Vienna's best businesses. He has a prison record."

Gisela said "Grosser Gott—that is terrible, Emilie."

But the other woman laughed, dabbing with her handkerchief at the tears which were running down her face. "Well, I must run now. I must find a cheaper place to live. But I knew you would appreciate this joke! I had to come and tell you."

Gisela went with her to the door and came back to Marian. She put her hand under the girl's chin and turned it up. "This won't do, my dear. You cannot carry the load of all Vienna on your back. Each one has only so much to bear—his own share. Remember that. We will help where we can and where we cannot we will not think. Any other way lies hysteria, and hysteria never helped anybody."

Marian looked round the flat remembering something. "It's very quiet. Where is Johann?"

"He's supposed to be at the market with my list. But he is probably in the gardens this minute feeding the birds. He never hurries. Would you like to dial the hospital and call Franz?"

But Marian did not want to speak to Franz for the first time on the telephone. She could only say such hollow things and her heart ached for him. "No, I'll wait till he comes home, thanks."

It was the middle of May before spring made a vigorous attempt to stay, after a spirited struggle with hail and hailstones and chilly winds. Franz and Marian went up to Kobenzl that first sunny Sunday. She had persuaded him that now he was working in the hospital and the adventure with Gisela's money had been successful, and the apartment had been ransacked till there was nothing left to ransack, her association with them at the Reichstrasse would be perfectly safe. He had to admit that any kind of risk again with the Nazi regime. That's all I ask. Please promise me."

Was Marian visited by some mystic prescience? She changed her mind about the promise even as she opened her mouth to make it. "Don't be absurd, Franz. You're being morbid. Why should I make unnecessary promises?"

They sat a long time over their coffee, smoking, dreaming over the bright landscape, talking little, poignantly happy to be with each other. They were both conscious of a deep gratitude that all went well with their own personal affairs. Marian's father had consented to sign affidavits for Franz, Gisela and Johann. He had consented to her remaining in Vienna till Franz received his American visa and could travel home with her. Happiness as complete as two who had seen what they had seen could hope for lay waiting for them in the near distance. It was only a matter of time.

BLUEBERRY-MERINGUE PIE (Fresh or canned berries.) One baked pie shell. Three cups blueberries. One cup granulated sugar. One-fourth teaspoon cinnamon. One tablespoon lemon juice. One-fourth teaspoon grated lemon rind.

One-eighth teaspoon salt. Three tablespoons flour. Three egg yolks. Three egg whites, beaten. One-fourth cup confectioners' sugar.

Mix the berries with the sugar, cinnamon, juice, rind, salt and flour. Cook 15 minutes in a covered double boiler. Stir frequently. Pour in the yolks. Fill the pie shell. Beat the whites until stiff. Add confectioners' sugar and beat until creamy. Roughly spread over berries. Bake 15 minutes in slow oven.

The Older Generation

Now you are a grandmother, try to recall how much you resented your parents telling you constantly the best way to rear your children, and stay out of your daughter's scheme of raising hers. It is her problem and it will be a far happier situation if she comes to you for advice than for you to offer it.

FRANZ had to work at the hospital on Sunday mornings, but the great charm of Vienna has always been the easy accessibility of the woods and hills and open country. Ten minutes after leaving the city on the motorcycle, they were parking it at the Hubner cafe at Kobenzl. They lunched on the terrace under the trees with its far-flung view of the winding Danube, the embracing hills and the dreaming roofs and spires of Vienna.

Franz was still obsessed by the risk she had taken in smuggling Gisela's money out of the country. He returned to the subject. "It makes my heart stand still just thinking of it."

"But it's over, Franz—it's over. Is it? Your career is not over. It's in your character. It scares me to think you might take some horrible risk again."

"What about? Everything's all clear now. There couldn't be any. The other things—Gisela's visa and yours—are strictly legal."

But Franz heard stories every day he did not bring home because he saw no point in depressing them. "Promise you'll never take

OFFERS TO LEASE

EADS VEHICLE W

Declares Matter of Rem

ing Elevated Tracks

Up to Company

National Park Service.

The Board of Estimate and apportionment voted unanimously to refuse new 50-year franchise for the Terminal Railroad and

lish a minimum guarantee of to be paid for use of the railroad of Municipal Bridge. The board said that the road should operate under revocable permit. In addition, the board offered to lease the vehicle deck of the Terminal Railroad for years at $300,000 a year. It stated that the question of removing the elevated railroad tracks to the riverfront memorial site was a matter to be handled

between the Terminal and the National Park Service, which is in charge of the proposed memorial. The board favored expenditure of not more than $200 to help pay for removal of the Pacific Railroad's single track from Poplar street (southern edge of the memorial site). This would

between Main street and Seventh street. The city's suggested amount would be drawn from the elimination of bond funds.

Revaluation Ordered.

An order for revaluation of Municipal Bridge, as a step towards an increase in the toll rates for the bridge, was issued by the board which controls municipal fiscal policy. The revaluation will be the Municipal Bridge Commission, composed of a group of officials.

Present tolls for rail use are

car and $1 for an empty freight car. For a passenger car and a locomotive.

All of the board's actions were taken on the recommendation of Mayor Bernard F. Dickmann.

The board also recommended that the board, composed of President William L. Mason,

be re-elected in each instance.

Expired Franchises.

The Terminal's franchises, expired the riverfront elevated line and the general system in the city in 1937. It has been on the verge of expiration, but it was renewed for 50 years.

Recently, when the whole question was reopened, the board declined to make a guarantee of the amount of tolls it would charge. The board's decision was a surprise, as it was expected to provide a more generous route for many trains

to permit several roads to use the bridge.

Only users of the rail departmental bridge now are the Terminal and Southern and the

nection with the Terminal franchise.

Declaring that the Terminal has the same right to use the bridges as any other railroad, the board of estimate said: "We do not consent to dismissal of

lishing a minimum guarantee by the Terminal of Municipal

road and completion by the railroad of work necessary for trains in East St. Louis at junction, recommended in the proposal, which would permit the use of the bridge."

$5,000,000 Suit.

In the recent discussions between the city and the Terminal, the chief points have had to do with the $5,000,000 suit brought by the city against the

ure to pay out an old contract for the use of the bridge. The

ment in the amount of the

been made by the city since without other funds.

As to the Eads Bridge vehicle deck, which the city has control for years, as a free entrance, the Board of Estimate pointed out that the Terminal figures showed the deck was "more than $300,000 a year. The Terminal actually
